Farm Leaders of Mid-West Throw Support to Smith

DEMOCRATIC PLAN TO AID FARMERS CHOSEN AS BEST

Corn Belt Committee Includes Presidents of Many Bureaus Throughout Grain Section.

SURPLUS PROBLEM IS CHIEF WORRY

Smith Advances Concrete Proposal for Preventing Price of Surplus From Controlling Entire Crop.

Des Moines, August 31.—(United Press.)—Although declining to specify the candidate by name, the corn belt committee, representative of farm organizations in the middle west, tonight placed its endorsement on the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, for the presidency.

In resolutions adopted by the committee the platform of the democratic party was endorsed as being the most effective offering for relief of the farmer from the "burden of surpluses."

"The democratic platform of 1928," the resolutions state, "pledges the party to enact legislation that will prevent the price of surplus from determining the price of the whole crop. It recognizes the principle that the problem of dealing with surpluses must be distributed over each marketed unit of commodity whose producers are benefited by such assistance."

Smith Is Outspoken

"The democratic candidate states his position squarely on this platform. He points out in his acceptance speech that the tariff is ineffective and of no value upon the crops of which we produce an exportable surplus. He declares, as does that democratic platform, in favor of legislation to make the tariff effective on such crops."

The resolution added that farmers in the wheat growing states where the main cash crops were being marketed at a price half its cost of production and without any benefit from the 42 cents tariff are "fully aware of the failure of the tariff to be effective in case of surpluses."

The republican platform was criticized for its failure to address itself to the problem of surpluses.

"The republican candidate," the resolution continued, "has not recognized the right of farmers to organize to be heard in the shaping of farm legislation."

Farm Heads Included

The resolution concluded with the appeal to farmers to elect candidates "who they thought would offer relief in their hour of need."

SEVEN ARRESTED IN MURDER CASE

Mysterious Slaying of Young Farmer Near Waycross Expected To Be Solved at Early Date.

Waycross, Ga., August 31.—(Special.)—Seven persons have been arrested in connection with the mysterious murder of Ira Byrd, young Pierce county farmer, whose mutilated body was found in the woods near Bristol Monday night. Two of those under arrest—Dan Tate, about 30 years of age, and Bessie Hodges, 30—are being held in the Ware county jail while five others are in jail at Blackstar.

Other arrests are expected, it is understood with the prospect that the mystery slaying soon will be at least partially cleared.

The case is one of the most perplexing in the crime history of south Georgia. Searching parties found Byrd's body Monday night several hundred yards from a woods road near Bristol, approximately two miles from the home of the murdered man. His skull was crushed in and his body mutilated, nothing having been stripped from his body.

The theory was advanced that he had more than $500 in cash on his person when he was killed. The body was found on his way to Bristol, having sold his tobacco crop, where he expected to square his year's account at the trading store there.

This theory was exploded, however, when officers discovered wagon tracks in the soft ground where the body was discovered. The tracks leading officers to an abandoned mule and wagon. In the wagon were blood stains that told a mute story of the murdered man's body having been hauled to this hiding place. The wagon was identified as belonging to Mrs. Byrd, wife of the slain man, and a later investigation at the Byrd home pointed to the fact that Byrd was murdered in his own home and his body hauled away.

Blood stains were found in the Byrd home and a blood-smeared ax also is being held as evidence by county authorities. The ax was found on the Byrd farm.

Dan Tate, one of the parties held in the Ware here and one of the first parties arrested, lived on the farm with Byrd. John Douglas, held in the Blackstar jail, also was a resident on the farm. Both of them disclaim any knowledge of the crime.

Mrs. Byrd, the Pierce county farmer's wife, lives in the Blackstar jail. Her first husband having been murdered some years ago, she practically is the sole support of her family. The section is referred to as "Scuffletown," and court records at Blackstar show that several of the most gruesome tragedies in Georgia have occurred within a few miles of where Byrd's body was found. It was near this spot that the widely known Patterson murder was committed several years ago.

Won Only One Match

One is inclined to feel just a bit of sympathy for these gentlemen Britons as they look back over two days of Walker cup play to see but one lone victory out of 12 matches, and that one the result of a fight to the very last green. As they look back to see their native champion beaten by a 13-12 score at the hands of Captain Robert Jones, of young America; as they see the remains of Ronald Hardman spread around the course by Watts Gunn in his 11-10 victory.

Then their eyes turn in retrospect to the best of the last and see their former champion and present captain, Dr. William Tweddell, stung by defeat at the hands of fighting George von Elm after the German youth had turned three down in the morning round. They can also see the triumphant form of respected Francis Palmer above the 11-10 rotund body of Captain T. O. Hezlet, who lost by a score of 8-7.

Further in the background they find Captain G. N. Martin dipping his colors to youthful Roland MacKenzie by a score of 2-1, and the aristocratic Eustice Storey falling before the brilliant and fiery American youth, Harrison R. Johnson, of Minneapolis.

Evans Only One To Lose

One bright spot makes a rift in the black cloud that hovers over those ten Englishmen tonight. Tony Torrance, lucky member of C. invading team, scored the only victory of the Britons when he beat Chick Evans 1 up on the eighteenth green after being 5 up at the sixth hole of the afternoon round. The fighting Chick with the ready smile cut this margin down steadily until the last green, but was unable to turn the trick.

In final retrospect the Britons have but one conclusion to reach. They must relinquish all claim to supremacy to the game which came to the Americans from one of Britain's greatest players; the pupil is now the teacher and the former teacher has reached the age of tottering second childhood.

FIRST SAVANNAH BAPTIST INFANT NAMED FOR SMITH

Savannah, Ga., August 31.—(P.)—The first Baptist to be named in Savannah after Governor Alfred E. Smith, was christened today as Christ Alfred Emanuel Wise. He is the two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wise, 1110 Seiler avenue. Mr. Wise declared that he hoped and had reasonable expectations that the little man would always be a democrat when he grew up.

PROHIBITION PARTY REFUSES TO GIVE HOOVER SUPPORT

Decides To Continue Race as Republicans Promise Continuation of Farcical Mellon Enforcement.

Chicago, August 31.—(P.)—The national executive committee of the prohibition party tonight defeated a proposal to support Herbert Hoover for president and withdrew its own candidate, William F. Varney, from the presidential contest. The vote was 4 to 3.

Those who voted against the plan were: Miss Esther H. Elfreth, New Jersey, vice chairman of the national committee; D. E. P. Prugh, Pennsylvania; Frank S. Regan, Rockford, Ill.; and Will D. Martin, Hashbrouck Heights, New Jersey.

Voting to throw the party vote to Hoover were: H. P. Faris, Missouri; Alvin E. Wilson, Chicago, and John B. Coffin, Florida. E. L. O. Hohenbach, Connecticut, was the only member of the committee not present. Dr. D. Leish Colvin, New York, national committee chairman, did not vote.

Virtually the entire day was devoted to discussing whether the party should cast its support against Gov. Al Smith, the democratic presidential nominee, at the cost of destroying itself, or should continue to fight for principle. After the vote had been announced, Mr. Martin said:

"The position of the majority was that this election is not a bona fide contest over the prohibition question, but a fake contest between the nomination program of Governor Al Smith and a divided constituency including both wets and dries, the fact that Smith has been able to make any appeal to the people. The inability of the republican party to enforce prohibition has led the people to look for a champion of modification. If they had enforced the law the results would have been such that there would not have been any serious demand for modification."

YOUTH IS WOUNDED RESISTING ARREST

Edward Peacock, 18, Is Arrested After Auto Chase; Theft of Machine Is Charged.

Caught after an exciting automobile chase, Edward Peacock, 18, an alleged auto thief, was shot in the right leg early Friday night by Detective G. F. Barrett when he resisted arrest, according to a report made by the detective. The wound was slight and after being treated at Grady hospital Peacock was taken to police headquarters where he is being held, charged with the larceny of an automobile.

According to Detectives Barrett and L. H. Satterfield the youth stole a car belonging to J. E. Brannon on the night of August 30. Seeing him in the stolen auto as he rode along a downtown street late Friday afternoon they gave chase.

After pursuing him for several miles they temporarily lost sight of his car when he swerved and forced their machine into a ditch at English and Bellwood avenues.

Renewing the pursuit the officers overhauled him again on Marietta street between Jefferson and Howell Mill roads. In a desperate attempt to elude his pursuers the youth drove his car into a vacant lot. The officers followed close behind and Detective Satterfield jumped to the running board of the other auto, but was thrown off as the machine hit a bump. Barrett ran the fleeing car down just as Peacock attempted to get back on Jefferson avenue. According to Barrett the youth then jumped out and resisted arrest forcing the detective to shoot him.

Federal Record of Clinton S. Carnes

C. S. CARNES.

Aliases: Clinton S. Carnes, S. C. Carnes, George Harris, Lindberg Real Estate Co.

Description.—Age, about 37; height, 6 feet 1 inch; weight, 147; slim build; dark complexion; good teeth; black hair; brown eyes; straight nose; thin face.

Peculiar mark.—Scar on right cheek.

Carnes was first indicted March 6, 1913, at Birmingham, Ala., for using the mails to defraud at that place during 1911. In this scheme he advertised in one of the Birmingham (Ala.) newspapers that he wanted a business partner with $1,000 to join him in discounting salaries of employees of a mining camp. Carnes was timekeeper for the Birmingham Railway, Light & Power Co., and he represented that by virtue of his position he was able to safely discount the salaries of a large number of employees of that firm. He claimed that such a business would yield large monthly dividends, with the result that many persons gave him large sums of money, aggregating about $15,000, which he converted to his own use and absconded. He was a fugitive from justice until March 20, 1915, when he was arrested at El Paso, Tex., and indicted at Kansas City, Mo., April 30, 1915, for using the mails to defraud at Kansas City, Mo., during 1914, in promotion of a scheme to defraud under the name of the Lindberg Real Estate Co., for which offense he was sentenced May 1, 1915, at Kansas City, Mo., to serve 4 months in the county jail at Clinton, Mo., and to pay the costs. On October 9, 1915, he was arrested at Clinton, Mo., to answer to the indictment pending against him at Birmingham, Ala. (first indictment), and he was sentenced March 6, 1916, at Birmingham, Ala., to serve 13 months in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., and to pay the costs. It is reported that an indictment is pending against Carnes in the state court at Birmingham, Ala. History 25320.

The postoffice department record of C. S. Carnes' activities which brought him within the pale of the law. This record is in the office of Chief Postal Inspector Joe P. Johnston, in charge of the Atlanta district. These photographs are different from the ones on record at the Atlanta federal penitentiary. The penitentiary photographs were used by Bertillon experts in identifying Carnes as the former convict there.

LEAGUE REFUSES COSTA RICAN PLEA

Will Not Take Up Question of Application of Monroe Doctrine Upon Little Countries.

Geneva, August 31.—(P.)—Costa Rica's request for a definition of the Monroe Doctrine will be declined by the council of the League of Nations.

After many hours today spent secretly in discussing this complicated political question, the council tonight had virtually reached an agreement upon the text of the reply which will be forwarded to the small Central American state. This reply, which, though couched in considerate language, and with a show of deference to Costa Rica's position, will insist upon the difficulty of the council in interpreting any political doctrine which has been enunciated by one government only, in this case the United States. The final touches to the reply will be given at another session of the council tomorrow.

The opinion generally expressed today, and embodied in other words in the reply, was that it is for the states concerned—the United States and the countries of Latin America—to make their own interpretations of the Monroe Doctrine—or, said another way, that it is none of the league's business.

Following the secret session today one member of the council made the remark that the discussions had been "amazingly interesting." Beyond that hardly any comment was forthcoming, and newspaper correspondents had the utmost difficulty in learning just what had taken place. Nevertheless, The Associated Press learned that an historical summary read by the Colombian jurist, Antonio Jose Restrepo, most challenged the attention of the councilmen.

Restrepo is said to have traced the history of the Monroe Doctrine from its inception, speaking particularly of its application during the Maximilian

MISSING SIX WEEKS, MAN RETURNS HOME IN MENTAL LAPSE

Macon, Ga., August 31.—(P.)—Paul Briggs, missing Macon real estate agent, returned home tonight. He said he had been in Memphis, Tenn., and Atlanta since he dropped out of sight here on July 18.

There was a joyous greeting when he reached his brother's home tonight, and saw his wife. He was so weak, members of the family stated, that he collapsed and had to be put to bed.

Briggs' mind was not yet clear as to where he had been or why he wandered away from Macon.

STORM PREVENTS SMITH HEARING ALL MATE'S TALK

Albany, N. Y., August 31.—(P.)—Governor Smith today sent the following telegram to his running mate, Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas:

"Dear Joe, listened to the speech over the radio. Lost part of it because of a storm in the vicinity of the broadcasting station. What we heard was wonderful. Will read the balance of it. Congratulations and good wishes from all at home."

PROBERS OF PARK SALE MEET TODAY

Committee Will Formulate Report and Council Is Expected To Take Action Monday.

Members of city council's special committee probing the purchase of the 420-acre Perkerson tract by the city and county will meet this afternoon to formulate their report on the exhaustive investigation they have conducted in an effort to ascertain whether any members of city council had any improper connection with the deal, it was announced Friday night by Alderman William B. Hartsfield, chairman.

The report will be released for publication as soon as the committee completes it and it is expected that it will be submitted to city council Monday.

Agreed on Commission.

Sensational disclosures, made before the committee, showed that Charles M. Ford, at present a member of council from the tenth ward and a real estate dealer, signed a contract with Sam P. Cronheim, another real estate man, and John A. Smith, president of the Sylvan Hills Improvement club, to divide the net profits of the $200,000 commission to be paid as a real estate fee equally among themselves. It was the distribution of this $200,000 fee which the committee sought to establish.

Settlement, however, was not according to the contract, Cronheim claiming that Ford told him that he would have to pay 11 members of council to vote to pay $410,000 for the parcel. Ford has denied repeatedly that he ever said he would have to pay any member of council and the council members connected with the transaction took the witness stand and denied ever having received or having been promised anything for their votes.

FORMER BUSINESS ASSOCIATE TELLS STORY OF MEETING

Declares Carnes Told Her Not To Return to Office Because He Did Not Want To Be Disturbed.

PLANNED TO QUIT TREASURER'S PLACE

Brother-in-Law and Friends Admit Official of Baptist Mission Board Served Term in Prison.

Clinton S. Carnes, missing Atlanta business man, treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission board, and former inmate of the federal penitentiary, held a secret conference with certain mysterious strangers on the afternoon before his disappearance on August 15.

This became known Friday night when a young woman with whom Mr. Carnes was associated in the affairs of the Automatic Carlock company, of which he was president, described the incident which aroused her curiosity at the time and which, when it became known that he had disappeared from the ken of his family and business connections, assumed a tragic significance.

This new development followed admission Friday by friends and relatives that Carnes is the man who served in the Atlanta penitentiary in 1916 and 1917, as first stated in The Constitution Friday morning. At the offices of the Baptist Home Mission board, officials had no statement to make before they said they had heard nothing new from the auditors' work on Carnes' books.

Had Planned To Resign.

From another close source to Carnes, it was learned Friday afternoon that the missing treasurer had planned to sever his connection with the Baptist Home Mission board in the near future, and that his entire time to his rapidly expanding real estate business. He had talked over these plans with Press Huddleston, prominent Atlanta advertising man.

Information connecting the missing man with the former federal convict was in the hands of The Constitution two days before it was published. Every possible means of verification was exhausted by this paper and the story was established until The Constitution had positive facts from confidential sources which proved that the missing man had served two terms in prison.

Mysterious Conference

The young woman associate described the incident of the mysterious conference as happening shortly before noon on August 14. She was leaving the office of the Phoenix Realty company, where Mr. Carnes transacted his extensive real estate affairs, when he asked her to wait a few minutes later in the day. He explained that he had an important conference with people coming to the office at

"WHEN WILL WEST END HAVE AN A&P MARKET?"

This question has been asked us by thousands of our West End friends since we announced last May the opening of the first twelve A&P Markets in Atlanta. The demand for A&P market service has far exceeded our capacity to increase the number of A&P Markets. In the case of A&P Markets, as with all superior things, time is required to PERFECT EACH UNIT. Good locations, the correct equipment, properly installed—and men who are specialists of A&P calibre, are only a few of the many details which receive individual attention before an A&P Market may be opened to extend service to our patrons, under the seal of the A&P Circle. Both markets are equipped by Warren, of Atlanta.

CANDIDATES SPEAK TO WOMEN VOTERS

Candidates for congress, the legislature and county offices aired their views Friday afternoon before approximately 100 women at the regular educational session of the League of Women Voters in the chamber of commerce hall. A number of the candidates gave their answers to questions on legislative topics recently propounded by the league.

Candidates who spoke at the meeting were: Leslie Steele and William D. Upshaw, rivals for congress; Dr. George Brown, Jesse B. Simmons, Luther Still, Ernest Bentley and C. D. McCorkle, candidates for the legislature; and John A. Boykin and Thomas E. Scott, rivals for solicitor general. Mrs. Alfred Bailey, president of the league, acted as chairman of the meeting, and announced that the next educational session, on September 28, will be devoted to the subject of registration.

On the subject of farm relief, Mr. Steele said that if the United States protects industry and the laboring man with a tariff, why does not the government protect the farmer. He

EUGENE TALMADGE STRESSES VALUE OF COTTONSEED

"Remember this, those cotton seed are worth $30 a ton to you as fertilizer. If you will look around in your neighborhood, you will see that the farmer who takes care of his cotton seed is about the most successful farmer you have in the community." So read the advice of Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture in the lead editorial of the Georgia market bulletin, released Friday. The article deplored the apparent fact that too many farmers are too willing to sell their seed at any price, indifferent to the vast array of by-products now derived from the product.

"When seed are under $30 a ton, look out for this, fix you up a house to take care of your seed and make up your mind that you are not going to give them away," the commissioner urged in the agricultural department publication.

He said that he voted for the McNary-Haugen bill. Mr. Steele urged that Muscle Shoals be disposed of, either by lease or by government operation, so that the farmers may be furnished with fixed nitrate at low cost and not be required to pay the present $12.25 per ton duty on nitrate soda imported from Chile. Mr. Steele said he hopes the federal government will not further encroach on states' rights.

Child Labor Legislation.

Mr. Upshaw spoke in favor of child labor legislation, and reviewed his record in congress, stating that he obtained the removal of the negro soldiers from a white hospital to Tuskegee, secured the Arcade postoffice, which last year did more business than the city of Macon's postoffice, and secured an order for $200,000 worth of Georgia granite for the Arlington bridge. He said that he is charged with "bolting" the democratic party, but that Cleveland and Bryan bolted it, and that Atlantans bolted it when they elected Robert Maddox as mayor.

Asked from the floor for his views on consolidation of the Atlanta and Fulton county schools, McCorkle and Bentley spoke in favor of such a move.

Still said that he favors equalization of the schools, the juvenile court bills, a new constitution and a better tax system. He spoke of his work for Alto sanitarium and the Fulton county school, and said that it is only fair to send a man back to the legislature for a second term when he has been faithful during his first term.

Bentley Reviews Record.

Bentley reviewed his own record in aiding the Atlanta public schools raise their income, and said that Still was in the legislature merely as a lobbyist for organized labor. Simmons said that the important questions are the method of expending, administration and the election of officers. Dr. Brown spoke of the possibilities of developing children through giving the little tuberculosis victims a chance and said that he intends to finish up his work for the tubercular child. Dr. Brown said he also is interested in business affairs and protecting the Confederate veterans, and urged the congressmen to take up the matter of old age pensions. Dr. Brown said he would vote for no change in the existing prohibition laws without the approval of the preachers of Fulton county, and that he would vote for anything for mental and moral uplift.

McCorkle spoke in favor of the juvenile court bills, and expressed himself as in favor of the new plan of state government drawn up by State Auditor Sam Shate.

Boykin said he would not apologize for his prosecution or for being "hard boiled," as he would not listen to appeals from persons with sinister motives. Protection of life and property is the principal purpose of law, he pointed out. Scott said that his declaration of principles included: "I believe a public officialholder to be a public servant and not a public boss; I believe it is as much the duty of a solicitor general to protect the innocent as it is to prosecute the guilty. I do not believe any person should be indicted, and then an effort made to secure evidence against him."

DEPUTIES FREED IN FATAL SHOOTING

Macon, Ga., August 31.—(AP)—Murder charges against three Bibb county deputy sheriffs filed following the fatal shooting last Sunday of Carl L. James, textile worker, were dismissed in municipal court today by Judge Hugh Chambers.

The court held that the state's evidence did not warrant the holding of the officers. Deputies Oscar Harris, Luther Stevens and Will Moseley, Harris said he shot James while the latter struggled with Deputy Moseley in an effort to take the officer's pistol. Warrants accusing the officers were sworn out late yesterday by the widow of James.

CORONER RETURNS SUICIDE VERDICT IN ROADWAY DEATH

Montezuma, Ga., August 31.—After a thorough investigation of conditions and circumstances surrounding the death Sunday morning, August 18, of Jeff Clark, well known citizen of Montezuma, the coroner's jury has returned a verdict of suicide. At the time of the tragedy Mr. Clark was returning to Montezuma from Marshallville in a taxicab with Lee Hill, taxi driver, according to whose testimony the car was stopped upon request of Clark, who went behind the car and fired the shot that caused his death.

PEACHTREE LEASE BRINGS $500,000

Lease of important ground floor space at 133 Peachtree, between Ellis and Cain streets, for expansion of the S. & W. cafeteria, at an aggregate rental of more than $500,000, was announced Friday by Frank Sherrill, president and majority owner of the large cafeteria chain, and W. C. Ewart, manager of the Atlanta branch and stockholder.

The deal featured real estate announcements of the week and was the largest commercial lease transaction to be announced in several months.

The building involved in the lease is the new structure erected on the site of the old Majestic hotel, and occupying what is regarded as one of the most prominent locations in Atlanta. The property is owned by J. Bulow Campbell and has a frontage of 100 feet from the prominent thoroughfare, extending back from Peachtree street 180 feet. The ground floor was originally divided into two equal portions separated by an entrance corridor to the second story in the center. The southern portion of the structure was leased by S. & W. in April and has been converted into one of the city's most modern restaurants. Under terms of the negotiations announced Friday, S. & W. is given possession of the entire ground floor space for the term of the lease, which is 15 years. Aggregate rental for this space will exceed a million dollars, it was stated.

Mr. Sherrill, acting through the Sherrill Realty company, transacted the lease with Mr. Campbell. Remodeling of the structure for cafeteria purposes is to be started at once. Mr. Sherrill stated. Completion of the work is expected in three months, with operation of the new portion to be put into effect at that time. It is estimated that $100,000 will be spent on remodeling.

According to the elaborate plans by which the cafeteria will be enlarged to twice its present size, a large lobby, display fountain, two more service counters, added kitchen space and dining tables will feature the expansion. The cafeteria has a present capacity of 325 meals a day during the three dining periods. This will be doubled by utilization of the space newly leased, the president said.

The company, which has been operating in the south for eight years, serves more than 3,000,000 meals annually through its cafeterias in Charlotte, Asheville, Knoxville, Raleigh and Atlanta. Mr. Sherrill stated. With more than 100 persons now employed at the local cafeteria, the staff will be enlarged to 150 when the new portion is put into operation.

"We are using the local branch to train managers for further expansion in the south," Mr. Sherrill stated. "Our original faith in Atlanta has been more than justified, lending encouragement to our plans for new branch cafeterias. Appreciation of the generous response Atlanta has given our institution is expressed in our readiness to double the cafeteria space here in less than six months."

Partly Cloudy, Probable Rain On Slate Today

Partly cloudy with probable showers is the weather men for today, according to the predictions of C. F. von Herrmann, local weather bureau meteorologist. Temperatures are slated to range at about the same readings as those of Friday.

Atlanta missed out on the showers Friday, but it was indicated that today's prediction may not go amiss. The mercury Friday ranged from a low of 75 degrees at 6 a. m. to a high reading of 88 degrees in the afternoon.

SWIMMING POOLS TO REMAIN OPEN THROUGH SEPT. 9

City swimming pools will be kept open during the afternoon through Sunday, September 9, L. L. Wallis, general manager of parks, announced Friday.

Previously it had been announced that the pools would be closed Monday, and this still applies with regard to morning swims, but the pools will be open each afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 o'clock, up to and including the closing date.

This action was taken in view of the exceedingly warm weather that usually visits the city during the first days of September.

TIRES AND BATTERIES TAKEN FROM GARAGES

Three garages in widely separated sections of the city were entered early Friday morning and a considerable quantity of equipment was stolen, according to police reports.

Several tires were stolen from the garage of J. A. Postwick, 433 Highland avenue; batteries, tires and a case of hand soap were taken from J. A. McLendon's garage, at 481 Peters street, while S. D. Preston, at 1207 Greenberry avenue, lost tires, an auto horn and some gasoline.

JENKINS TO LECTURE TO BAPTIST CLASS

Judge W. F. Jenkins, of the Georgia court of appeals, will begin a series of lectures to the Bible class of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning. Judge Jenkins will give his talks in the main auditorium of the church.

BROAD EXTENSION TO COST $370,524

Probability that extension of Broad street from Mitchell to Whitehall will be completed early next year loomed Friday when the streets committee of city council directed the construction department to study the project.

The committee also recommended that the city engineer be authorized to prepare plans for the extension of Broad street from Mitchell to Whitehall, and that the city council be authorized to appropriate the necessary funds.

The cost of the improvement is set at $247,100 without any reference to damages or other damages, and the total cost is estimated at $370,524.

Property holders who wish to dispute the matter will have the opportunity to be heard at the regular meeting of that body September 4.

Albertain Robert F. Pennington, of the first ward, is pushing the project with a view of completing it within the next few months.

The committee also recommended that the city engineer be authorized to prepare plans for the extension of Broad street from Mitchell to Whitehall, and that the city council be authorized to appropriate the necessary funds.

AGED MACON MAN ARRESTED AS FLIRT, GIVEN FINE OF $51

R. H. Ray, 68-year-old citizen of Macon, may be old in years but he is still young in spirit—too young, in fact, according to Policewoman Maude B. Hughes who arrested him in Terminal station Friday after he is said to have attempted to flirt with several women.

The policewoman testified that Ray had annoyed several girls and young women and also attempted to flirt with her. The prisoner was fined $51 when he appeared in recorder's court Friday.

RIVAL CANDIDATES CLASH ON REMARKS AT PREVIOUS RALLY

A verbal tilt over the interpretation of remarks on the presidential race made by the two men caused a heated verbal tilt Friday night between Luther Still and Ernest Bentley, rival candidates for the legislature, in the auditorium at Church and Vesta streets, East Point.

Bentley, the first speaker, charged that Still made a speech against the democratic party at a recent meeting. He said that after he had been hoisted down from the dais by the democratic party, Still would applaud with a speech against the party and its presidential nominee, Al Smith.

In reply to this, Still declared that a wrong interpretation had been placed on what he had said. "All I said was this, and I'll repeat it now," Still said. "I do not believe that any red blooded American citizen will ever be subject to alien domination."

Still then charged that before an audience of more than 200 men, Bentley had declared that he would not vote for Al Smith. "I didn't say that," Bentley said. "What I said was that I would not vote for Al Smith, but for the democratic party."

Other speakers at the meeting were W. C. Jenkins, opponent of Still and Bentley, and J. B. Simmons, candidate for the legislature.

Washington Police Unruly; 373 Face Trial During 1928

BY ALFRED P. RECK.
Washington, August 31.—(United Press.) A wave of lawlessness has overtaken the Washington police force during the absence of President Coolidge and congress, who manage the municipal affairs of the capital as mayor and city council, respectively.

Congressional investigation of the force appears certain during the next session of congress, it was learned today from an authoritative source.

Something is drastically wrong with the police force, the superintendent of Police Edwin B. Hesse admits as 373 out of 1,348—one out of every four—have faced the police trial board since the first of the year.

Shooting Charges.
Charges against the police have ranged from shooting with intent to kill to ordinary routine violations. Twenty-three were accused of intoxication. Most of these were dismissed from the force. One faced a charge of hijacking a cargo of liquor.

Since April 7 more than 255 policemen have been brought before the trial board of intemperance and discipline. During 1926 only 135 were cited for board trials. In 1927 more than 275 were brought before the board and if the present rate continues more than 500 will face the trial board this year, or nearly 50 per cent of the force.

Resolution Passed.
Congress already has evinced interest in conditions in the police force and just before the close of the last session the senate passed a resolution introduced by Senator Caraway, Arkansas, democrat, asking for the number of policemen brought before the trial board.

This information was furnished by the District commissioners but reached the senate too late for action.

Superintendent Hesse blames present regulations, passed by congress, for the cause of the general breakdown in police morale.

Hands Are Tied.
"I can neither hire nor fire a man on the force," Hesse said. "The civil service commission selects the eligibles for the department and the trial board and commissioners must decide whether a policeman is to be dismissed."

"All I can do is to bring charges against men and await action of the trial board. Sometimes delays here accused men are brought to trial run into months. All of this tends to break down discipline."

Other officials of the force blame members of congress for the shattered morale of the force.

"Nearly every member of congress has a man or two on the force he is interested in," a high official said, "and the minute a policeman gets in a jam with his superiors he runs up to the capital for congressional aid."

Members of the police force are not alone in their violations, police records for last year show. Out of a force of approximately 500,000 there were 103,000 arrests in Washington in 1927.

Most of the 103,000 arrests were for minor law violations but there were 13,000 arrests in 1927 for intoxication and in the center of prohibition enforcement.

MRS. WILLEBRANDT DENIES 'POLITICS' STINNES CHARGES HE WAS DUPED

Berlin, August 31.—(AP)—Hugo Stinnes, Jr., son of the late German post war industrial baron, faced an examining court today with composure and without a word of denial or knowledge whatsoever that money he had given his secretary, Von Waldow, had been used for illegal purposes.

Following his arraignment yesterday with Von Waldow, Stinnes suffered a fit of depression which led to a restless night in his cell at Montevision prison, and to the administration of tonics today to put him at ease.

Today he gave an explanation of his implication in the Von Waldow deal, saying that he had been duped by his secretary's suggestion a French group which possessed a large amount of the German war loan stocks. Only after he had advanced the group $100,000 did he learn, he said, that the group consisted of three foreigners who had founded their company in Paris for the sole purpose of buying German government securities.

Stinnes professed to have no knowledge of the financial manipulations, and said he had been duped by his employees and consequently had committed no offense.

In the meantime Von Waldow has been released without bail, only pledging himself to report at regular intervals to the examining judge. In securing his release his attorneys argued that he shielded his chief loyally as long as possible and involved him in the German war loan stocks. Only after he had advanced the group $100,000 did he learn, he said, that the group consisted of three foreigners who had founded their company in Paris for the sole purpose of buying German government securities.

DATES ARE MADE FOR CURTIS TRIP COLONEL CASKIE DIES AT AGE OF 98

Washington, August 31.—(AP)—A far flung speaking itinerary reaching from Maine to the Rocky mountain states was before Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, upon his return to his desk here today.

Dates arranged by Representative Newton, of Minnesota, director of the speakers' bureau, are not all definite but the program sends the vice presidential nominee into New England next week and into the western agricultural area the following week for a long drive.

Senator Curtis showed up for work today after a strenuous four days in traveling about New York state and Pennsylvania and seemingly none the worse for his active hours at Syracuse and Harrisburg, where he delivered speeches.

The senator has given the word that he will go on the "stump" wherever it is desired by the national committee. Their plans call for his appearance at Boston next Wednesday, at Bangor, Maine, next Friday, and at Portland, Maine, on Saturday. The Maine election is September 10.

On September 15, Curtis will open the western campaign for his party at Lexington, Ky. He will go from there to Louisville. Other tentative dates in this western program are: Evansville, Ind., September 17; Gary, Ind., September 18; Spencer, Iowa, September 19; Rosebud, S. D., September 20; Billings, Mont., September 22; and Denver, September 24. From Denver he probably will go into Oklahoma.

Philadelphia, August 31.—(AP)—Colonel Robert Alexander Caskie, 98, a democrat of one of the oldest families of Virginia and an officer in the Confederate army, died today at the home of his son, John J. Kerk Caskie, in Merion, a suburb.

During the war between the states Colonel Caskie was an officer in the Richmond Grays, and the organizer and leader of the Caskie Rangers, a band of cavalry. Later he became liaison officer, serving Generals Lee, Jackson and Stuart. He fought in many battles and once was seriously wounded.

In 1850 Colonel Caskie was married to Amanda Wallace Gregory, daughter of Judge Munford Gregory, formerly governor of Virginia. His wife died several years ago. Two daughters, Mrs. M. C. Plass, Washington, and Mrs. A. C. Thomas, Paris, France, and two sons survive. One son, John J. K. Caskie, is general counsel of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company. Edmund W. Caskie, the other son, is a resident of New York.

Henry, Ill., September 18; Spencer, Iowa, September 19; Rosebud, S. D., September 20; Billings, Mont., September 22; and Denver, September 24. From Denver he probably will go into Oklahoma.

COMMITTEE SHOULD MEET.

The Constitution has received numerous communications complaining of the failure of the state democratic executive committee to function in connection with the democratic primary to be held on September 12, 1928. Inquiries are made asking why no meeting of the state committee has been held, and whether the rules and regulations formulated by the committee for the conduct of primaries were intended to be automatically operative without direction by the committee.

Specific attention has been repeatedly called to rule 18, which provides that—

"The chairman of the state democratic executive committee shall appoint a subcommittee of nine, of which the chairman and secretary of this body shall be members, to arrange and supervise all of the details of the primary elections and all conventions that may be held during the tenure of said committee. Said subcommittee shall be charged with the responsibility of enforcing all the rules, regulations and resolutions of this committee while said committee is not in actual session, and is empowered to make all other necessary rules and regulations with reference to said primary elections and conventions which are not inconsistent with the provisions of law or these resolutions. A majority of said subcommittee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

The Constitution is in receipt of a printed circular signed by a candidate for a high state office, and whose name appears on the official ballot, purporting to have been distributed with the authority of the state democratic executive committee, which circular is headed "Anti-Smith," and which proclaims the purpose of the candidate in question to vigorously support the republican candidate for president of the United States in opposition to the candidate nominated by the democratic party in its national convention.

Rule 5 of the primary rules and regulations, unanimously adopted by the state democratic executive committee, reads as follows:

"No person shall be deemed a candidate in said primary unless he is legally qualified to hold the office for which he announces, is a valid member and adherent of the democratic party in both state and national politics, and pays the assessments hereinafter prescribed, by the time herein after named."

Rule 2 provides as follows:

"All white electors who are democrats and qualified to vote in the general elections, in good faith, will pledge themselves to support the democratic candidates for all offices to be voted on this year, are hereby declared qualified to vote in said primary, and the act of voting in said primary shall constitute the aforesaid pledge."

Investigation shows that the official ballot heretofore referred to was prepared by the chairman and secretary of the state committee, as provided by rule 4, but without submitting to the state committee or its subcommittee any question of qualifications raised under rules 2 and 5 above quoted.

The rules of the state committee specifically provide for called meetings of the state committee, as follows:

"The secretary or chairman of the committee shall mail written notices to all members in advance of called meetings, notifying members of the time and place where such meetings shall be held. Called meetings shall be held upon such notice upon the decision of the chairman of the committee, and called meetings shall be held whenever and wherever a quorum of the members of the committee shall deliver to the chairman or secretary of the committee a written request for such meeting."

We have been unable to locate among the records of the democratic party in Georgia any instance in which the state democratic executive committee, after calling a state primary, has failed to meet in full committee, or through its delegated subcommittee, to make all necessary provisions for the conduct of the primary, including the essential provision of qualification.

Certainly no party emergency has ever been presented in Georgia which demanded more impetively party action through its duly constituted committee on the question of qualification of candidates seeking the suffrage of participants in the democratic primary.

It may be conceded that unusual conditions pertaining to the national campaign have, to some extent, subordinated popular interest in the state primary to the more general interest of democrats and republicans in the general election, but genuine democrats throughout the state are not overlooking the fact that the primary to be held on September 12 is for the sole purpose of selecting democratic candidates for United States senator, governor, attorney general, secretary of state, comptroller general, state treasurer, commissioner of agriculture, state superintendent of education, commissioner of commerce and labor, prison commissioners, public service commissioners, judges of the court of appeals, justices of the supreme court, representatives in congress, judges of the superior courts and solicitor generals, state senators and representatives and candidates for all other offices to be filled in the general election of this year, and are not overlooking the fact that the rules of the state committee specifically prescribe that no elector shall vote in the primary except democrats who, in good faith, will pledge themselves to support the democratic candidates for all offices to be voted on this year, and that no candidate is qualified unless he is a valid member and adherent of the democratic party in both state and national politics.

The immediate importance of a meeting of the state or subcommittee is emphasized by the fact that "The Hoover Bulletin of Georgia," published and widely distributed in the interest of the republican party, conspicuously carries an article signed "G. E. Maddox, chairman state democratic executive committee," headed "Democrats not bound by rules of party in national election," which purports to emanate from Mr. Maddox, but which is printed with the following introduction: "No democratic voter in Georgia will be ruled out of the democratic party if he desires to vote the republican ticket in November, according to the interpretation of the primary rules by Ed Maddox, chairman of the state democratic executive committee."

While the text of the communication expresses the personal view of its author, that "a participant in the coming state primary is pledged only to support nominees of that party," the communication as printed in the Hoover organ carries the official signature, "chairman state democratic executive committee."

The title page of "The Hoover Bulletin" is ornamented with the slogans, "Elect Herbert Hoover for president" and "News bulletin for all individuals and groups working for the election of Herbert Hoover to the presidency of the United States."

Whatever may be the personal views of the chairman of the state democratic executive committee, the rules unanimously adopted by the committee itself are so clear and explicit as to leave no room for doubt that the committee itself, in formulating these rules, did not contemplate any possible condition under which the rules could be ignored and defied by the qualification of a candidate in the democratic primary who boldly proclaims his unabashed purpose to aid in the defeat of the democratic national nominee for president, by openly campaigning for the election of the republican nominee.

In any event, in justice to the democratic party in Georgia, and especially in justice to every individual member of the committee, including its chairman, a meeting of the state democratic executive committee should be called promptly by the chairman, in order that all of its members may be afforded an opportunity to vote their official expression concerning the qualification rules created by them.

If candidates who publicly proclaim their hostility to the democratic nominee and their loyalty to the nominee of the republican party shall be permitted to participate in democratic primaries, then the primary system in Georgia, having lost its usefulness as a vehicle for party expression, will be abandoned as a political farce.

Democrats in Georgia who believe in the protection afforded under the primary system have no other possible avenue of relief than by a prompt meeting of the state committee, and it is to be hoped that its distinct chairman, regardless of his own personal views in the premises, will measure up to his party responsibility by ordering a called meeting of the committee without delay.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASEN

Cats of Rome.

Roman cat lovers have been much disturbed by an edict issued by the governor to put an end to those free-and-easy cat homes which have existed so long in open spaces like Trajan's Forum, the Roman Forum, and precincts of the Pantheon and other ancient monuments. According to the edict, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals would take over the cats in the future. There would be a thorough culling in temples where they roamed at will, fed by an indulgent populace. Handsome and youthful cats, being more likely to find homes, would be given away. Old and ugly ones, who nobody wanted, would be placed in the society's kennel. The society, however, was immediately filled with letters of protest. It was preposterous, this tutelage of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Let it look after ill-used asses and mules, and leave the cats where they were. Moreover, there were more than enough Roman temples to house the cats in the benign days of the Caesars. At any rate the upshot has been that the edict is withdrawn.

Play Around a Play.

The method of the Russians, according to dispatches, is best exemplified in their production of "Bastien and Bastienne," the shepherd and shepherdess play written by Mozart at the age of 12. The Russians declare that their aim is to banish antiquities and "museum ideas" from the theater, to destroy the conception of an eighteenth-century composer, and to replace it by that of Mozart the living, eternal Master, who must be as actual to us today as he was to his contemporaries. So they have written a play around a play. They show the amateur actors who first produced the play in 1782, in Vienna actually preparing for that production just as they may be imagined to have done at the time. When everything has been made ready, when we have seen the characters "dressing up" and discussing the piece, the stage is set (the epilogue ending), and the play is played. The production is the general effect is bizarre, but refreshing, say those who have seen it.

Timely Views of Noted Americans

INTEREST ABROAD IN AMERICAN CAMPAIGN ISSUES FOUND.

(Samuel Clemens was born at Lynchburg, Va., in 1835. He studied law at Columbia university and was admitted to the bar in 1859. Clemens established his offices in New York city and at the age of 33 had acquired a reputation as a defender of cases of international prominence and soon gained recognition as one of the most brilliant lawyers in the country. He now is senior member of the Washington law firm of Marshall, Smith & Lee.)

In Great Britain, I found a deeper and more generally sustained interest of the issues involved in our impending campaign than I have found in any of the preceding years of my annual pilgrimages to Europe.

Of course the Britishers recognize prohibition as the outstanding issue in our campaign, and I think they understand this problem better than our own people do. Or perhaps they are more honest in expressing themselves.

The experiment we have made and in which we have failed interests and concerns them deeply, for they have seen a generation of men grasping with the same problem. But prohibition with them will never rise to the dignity of an issue, for the British conceive that it is not to interfere for a moment such interference with personal liberty.

The British, however, have regularized and restricted the liquor and saloon and in my judgment are in a fair way to abolish it altogether, which none of us deny is an excellent thing. But they do not seem to have any formidable move for bond day prohibition there within our generation.

It is not because it is not desirable that it could be accomplished, but they all agree to that, but they know as we know that it is impossible and that these gestures, however well intentioned, are hypocritical and harmful to the cause of the constitution and are an incitement to crime. They know that we are covering our law-abiding citizens into potential callous criminals.

The World and All BY CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

ABOUT THE GREAT ONES.

From somewhere I had a letter the other day in which the writer admitted that perhaps he is the greatest living person. He had read this column in this column on this question of who is the greatest of us all, and he had thought quite a good deal about the problem. The result was that he decided which he modestly put himself forward as a candidate for the honor. I have mislaid the letter, but if I find it I shall share it with my readers.

Mrs. E. M. Whitehead, of Dupont, Ill., writes a very good letter on this subject in which she says:

"The greatest living person of today is the one who is doing the most to educate individuals of the human family successfully to meet their own personal problems."

If I may interrupt Mrs. Whitehead at this point, I would call the attention of my readers to the fact that very many of those who write to me about human greatness and education are the highest examples of humanity in this age. There is something very significant about this. Thinking people are recognizing the fact that the world is in a state of striving toward knowledge and power. They realize that much training and education will be necessary before much progress can be made. Hence the importance attributed to the work of teachers.

Persons who proceed my correspondent, "I think Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, of New York, and Charles Fillmore, of Kansas City, are the greatest living teachers of life and life's problems. Therefore, I should say that the greatest living person is the one who is doing the most to educate individuals of the human family successfully to meet their own personal problems."

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

Des Moines, Iowa.

I have a fine boy sixteen years of age in high school. He works hard at his lessons but it seems impossible for him to master his studies and his grades are always low except in one subject. What would you advise?

Consult the principal and teachers of your son's school. They observe his reactions to his studies and should be able to explain why he is proficient in one subject and deficient in others. They may also detect minor faults and hindrances in him which the pressure of overcrowded classes prevents them from correcting.

Do not suppose, however, that because the boy is backward in book work he is doomed to failure. Many a lad quick to learn by rule and rote has been an unfilled prophecy as a man. On the other hand, Sir Isaac Newton was deemed stupid as a child and Darwin was upbraided by his teachers because he preferred dabbling in chemistry to conjugating Latin verbs. "Nothing," said the great scientist in later years, "could have been more wisely advised than the Shrewsbury school." I fear similar experiences are created in not a few pupils today because their instructed pursuit to learning is too technical and stereotyped.

Since your boy is neither careless nor idle and is doing all he can, surely his methods of study are not so seriously defective. He may not be built for intensive study because he leans to the practical or mechanical side of things. He may be a visual learner, and the discipline of such application will not be wasted and that he can put it to good use later in employing those talents which have been his strength and opportunity for their expression.

I accept Christ as the divinely appointed savior and believe Him to be deserving of all the honor, glory and praise which I ascribe to Him. I have never known anyone according to His teachings.

But I feel no emotion, no special enthusiasm and no exaltation. I believe that the British organization, is the best volume I know on the subject. Mr. Elliott traces the history of the drama from religious and secular sources, and shows the height of a moral challenge in the Greek classics.

He also recites the relations of Christianity to the drama, especially in medieval times, and how its Shakespearean era was indebted both to the Renaissance and the Reformation. The author's entire treatment of the question is so convincing, and at intervals illuminating, that one is tempted to linger upon it. But I will not further anticipate the pleasure derived by you from reading his book.

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

AWFUL PROPAGANDA IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME.

It is generally understood that the services of physicians and nurses cost real money and are rarely available without price. On this ground I, for one, hate to buy insurance from a concern that provides for a certain class of policyholders, notably poor people and industrial workers, nursing service without visible cost. I feel that the cost, whether named or not, is being added to the premium, and naturally one hates to pay for anything one doesn't want or doesn't get.

On similar ground I object to a physician practice of certain soap and glycerin producers who launch what they call an "institute" and through this arrangement propagate such ideas as that considering favorable to the business. Among the ideas thus propagated is one that may drive a few more customers to the soap counter, but will never gain the sanction of science. The notion is this:

"... it is possible to cause suffocation by destroying the respiratory power of the skin."

"The skin is... the most hard working organ in the body, for it produces oil, sweat, hair, nails; absorbs, through its pores, wastes, breathes, and regulates the temperature of the body."

I think that is stretching the skin a little far, or stretching its functions. However, the soap and glycerin makers declare they found the statement in a curious book by a Dr. L. Levin, of Cornell university.

So far as the use of soap is concerned, I favor its use earlier and often by more customers than have ever used it sparingly. I believe plain soap is at least as good as any cosmetic soap for cleansing the teeth. I consider plain soap the best all around antiseptic and disinfectant we have. I am not so keen on the wet body wash, but I do think life would be very different without soap.

Still I maintain that it is not a proper part of the soap or glycerin producing business to induce the public to teach or educate the public in the physiology or hygiene of the skin, or in any other branch of physiology or hygiene. I believe that education should be real money, and when I buy a cake of soap I am paying for it, against the expense of the defenseless ultimate consumer, and the principle of the thing is not equitable or fair.

Public policy brought about certain reforms in the life insurance world some years ago. The same policy should take cognizance of the strange affiliations and peculiar activities of other kinds of big business. Surely it is high time that some check or restraint should be placed around the activities known as "propaganda."

We have public schools everywhere, and every individual in the community has his share in the maintenance of the schools. It is the proper place to teach the functions of the skin.

It is right to business people at large: put it to business people at large: it is right to make your customers pay for your propaganda?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Gritting Teeth.

They complain at home that I am forever gritting my teeth when I am asleep. Can you tell me how to correct this? (Miss E. F.)

Answer.—Sometimes it is due to irritation from infected root canals or from unerupted teeth. Sometimes it is a reflex action caused by irritation in the digestive tract. So you should have your teeth examined by a dentist, and if necessary have any necessary treatment given by your dentist, and then arrange with your family doctor for your first complete dental examination. This will enable the doctor to advise about correction of any faults of diet or eating habits. There is a popular notion that grinding of the teeth in sleep indicates that the individual has "worms," but in practice there is little real evidence to support this fancy.

I am suffering from acidosis—a very irritating rash over my whole body. I have often in summer eaten potatoes, meat, gravy, white bread and sweets. My physician wants me to eat no potatoes, but I hate to omit them from my diet, as I am an ex-pectant mother. (Mrs. A. P.)

Answer.—I do not understand how you reach the conclusion that there is acidosis. Potatoes are very useful in opposing acidosis. Tomatoes are slightly less value. Milk is neutral. Oranges, apples, lettuce, bananas, are especially valuable in the diet when there is any tendency toward acidosis. Foods furnishing acid waste or combustion products are chiefly meats, eggs, cereal products, peanuts, and plums, prunes and cranberries. The cause of the benzoic acid content of the three fruits mentioned. All other fresh fruits, and the fresh vegetables and greens rather furnish an alkaline ash.

Another Near Specialist.

Five months ago a foot specialist at the shoe store told me that I had fallen arches and that I must wear arch supports, for which I paid $8. Now I find my feet are not there, no foot specialist where I am staying. (V. P. J.)

Answer.—For the lack of a "foot specialist" where you are now you should be thankful. It is a grave error to adopt arch supports or any other artificial brace against the foot, cast, corset, bandage or appliance, without medical advice. Such surgical appliances are of course valuable and necessary adjuncts to the treatment of certain deficiencies or deformities, but they are capable of doing irreparable harm when unwisely used. I advise you to stop trifling with your feet and consult a physician before your trouble gets any worse.

OFFICER LEAVES TO RETURN M'GRIFF TO FACE CHARGES

Deputy Sheriff John W. Hopkins left Atlanta Friday night for Houston, Texas, with extradition papers for the return of Harry McGriff, former Atlanta lawyer wanted here on two larceny after trust indictments returned last January.

McGriff is charged with converting about $200 entrusted to him by business associates to personal use. He has been a fugitive since the indictment. McGriff was arrested recently in Houston, according to Texas authorities.

With Carl Lancaster, who appeal to the supreme court against his conviction for criminal assault is still pending, McGriff was retained to represent Harold Hammond, executed several months ago.

At the time Hammond was executed, one of his attorneys, Lancaster, was in Fulton tower, where McGriff was a fugitive.

The Deer Must Surrender His Path If Man Needs It for a Highway

By Robert Quillen

Personal property rights are acquired by discovery, purchase or labor.

But the rights of a race depend on its ability to exercise them. No one will contend that the American Indian had a right to hold the vast resources of this continent.

Some portions of the land were his, by right of occupation and use, but the portions he did not and could not use were the property of all mankind.

No one will contend that the naked savages of Africa have a right to hold the mineral, timber and waterpower resources of that continent.

Since the dog cannot eat hay, he has no moral right to lie in the manger and drive away the ox.

There is sufficient answer to the charge that great nations wrongfully exploit the resources of the weak.

An "undeveloped" people that is sufficiently civilized to know the worth of its resources and to use them, yet lacks the will, the desire, the energy or the capital to develop them, has a right to hold its properties against invaders; but when it grants concessions to aliens it assumes the obligation to protect these aliens in the rights granted them.

If you have oil land and your neighbor has money, and if you two form a partnership to drill for oil, and if, oil having been discovered, you and your sons quarrel and threaten to destroy the well machinery, your neighbor has a right to call on the police to protect his property.

Men form governments for mutual protection, and the first business of a government is to protect its citizens—whether at home or abroad.

To talk of "imperialism" and the "rights of the weak" is nonsense if the weak has bargained to give the strong concessions.

Weakness is not a virtue, nor does it confer any rights not enjoyed by strength.

The earth belongs to those who can use it; and though the weak have rights, they must muzzle the ox that treads out the corn.

(Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution.)

Curious friendships grow now and then between condemned men and the deputies who are charged with holding them in durance to the law.

To the law, which consigns men to unknown destinations, but rarely deprives them of human companionship—for the earthly lap of the journey, anyhow.

The doomed are often forsaken by family and friends other than strangers in a strange land... men who have gone far from the restraints imposed by life in communities where they are known.

Fulton Tower waits death without hope of consolation from sources beyond the narrow walls.

There is an appealing quality about a loneliness so absolute. The unfortunate marked for execution is set apart from his fellows, even under the most favorable circumstances.

But often even men find sympathetic listeners in their captors. And the vigilance of the law is not relaxed because an occasional deputy can find time to chat with his prisoners.

No one understands this better than the prisoner. Few, I am told, are capable of presuming on such kindness.

There was the case of a boy taken by motor to the commonwealth prison, where the end of a meager little life was the jumping-off place for enemies of society.

The deputy who rode with the boy that night told he could, in all safety, have left his guns and handcuffs behind.

He had known his prisoner intimately for more than a year, and the boy, using a few precious moments before the end, assured his captor that he wished him well, and that he deeply appreciated the small courtesies allowed him.

It was by the boy's request that the deputy accompanied him, even to the graveyard two days later.

Society sees its murderers in the real light of a single rash action, while society's servants often know them as human beings, as men and boys who have made fools of themselves, and who are sometimes capable of true repentance.

This article might be attributed to a huge barbecue sandwich I ate after midnight last night. There is nothing like a barbecue sandwich to make a man realize the seriousness of life on this mundane sphere.

Things Were Different a Half Century Ago

From The Constitution files, January 13, 1878:

The Ladies' Aid now is a meeting of Miss Kellogg has called Miss Carr "a leather-lunged old son-of-a-gun."

Fancy anyone by the name of Kellogg making a warlike declaration like that.

Washington, August 31.—(P)—Two young men were found critically injured and unconscious today on a near-by Virginia road under conditions which led police to believe they were held up by robbers and beaten.

Lieutenant Richard Wetherill, Jr., son of Lieutenant Colonel Richard Wetherill, of Fort Thomas, Ky., was taken to Walter Reed army hospital where he underwent this morning a severe body lacerations. The men had been to a horse show at Warrenton, an undertaking discovered them, Griffith living in an automobile and Wetherill alongside the road.

Deputy Sheriff Wilson Darr, of Fairfax county, said this morning it appeared that the car had been traveling at an excessive rate of speed and was unable to negotiate the curve in the road. Wetherill was killed, however, that the wound in Wetherill's leg appeared to have been made by a large caliber bullet, Captain Herwood of the county police, was assigned to investigate.

Colonel Guy V. Henry, commandant of Fort Myer, Va., who was at the emergency hospital this morning, said he visited a relative who is ill, examined the wound in Wetherill's leg and declared that it was undoubtedly caused by a gunshot. Colonel Henry also declared that it appears that the young lieutenant was struck with a bullet and a sandbag of some similar instrument.

RIVERS TO RESIGN IN EVENT OF CALL

If Governor L. G. Hardman will call an extra session of the legislature to investigate the governor's charges of "waste and extravagance" made against that department, State Senator E. D. Rivers will resign as a member of that body, he announced Friday in a letter to the governor. This offer was made by Senator Rivers, he declared, because the governor had stated that Senator Rivers had "blocked" his efforts at highway department reorganization at the last session and again would "block" such move if an extra session were called. Senator Rivers' letter to Governor Hardman is as follows:

"The discovery of the truth or falsity of the charges which you have recently made against the state highway department transmits the ambitions of any man to be governor of Georgia.

"If the charges of 'waste and extravagance' and insinuations of graft on the highway board are true, every member of that board should be removed at once. If those charges are false, this fact should be made known to the public in order that the state should not be disgraced by willful slander and malicious falsehoods.

"In your reply to Captain J. H. Egan, former president of the state senate, you say in effect that there exists 'the greatest peril ever confronting us,' and that you would call an extraordinary session of the general assembly were it not for the fact that it would lead to the opposition to your efforts and that on account of my leadership, it would be impossible for anything to be done.

"In order that you may have no excuse whatever, and in order that you cannot say that I, as your opponent for governor, will attempt to prevent your charges from being fairly and impartially considered by the general assembly, and in utmost good faith, I am writing this letter, which you may consider as my resignation as a member of the state senate, provided you issue at once a call for the general assembly of Georgia to assemble in extra session not later than Wednesday morning, September 5, 1928."

FIRM NOT LIABLE FOR WATCHMAN'S DEATH BY PISTOL

The employer who furnishes his night watchman with a pistol owes no legal redress in damages to the estate of such an employee when he meets death through accidental discharge of the weapon, the court of appeals ruled Friday in upholding a general demurrer which denied the estate of a night watchman the right to sue the Griffin Foundry Machinery company. The widow charged in her suit that her husband, who was employed as a night watchman, was furnished with a pistol whose use was not essential to the carrying out of his duties as a night watchman. The appellate court held Newman had equal means of knowing the alleged danger of the weapon with the defendant company, and sustained the action of the trial judge who upheld a general demurrer which held that Mrs. Newman had no cause of action.

UNIVERSAL CREDIT CO. OPENS ATLANTA OFFICE

The Universal Credit company, offering the authorized financing plans for time payment purchases of Ford products, Friday announced the opening of the Atlanta branch office of this exclusively Ford financing institution. The Atlanta branch office occupies the sixth floor of 101 Marietta building and provides financing facilities for Ford purchasers on deferred payments for the entire district included in the Atlanta branch territory of Ford Motor company.

The personnel of the Atlanta branch has been selected and for several weeks alterations have been under way and modern special equipment installed to meet requirements of a large volume of business. The Atlanta branch is the third of a series of specialized finance units that will be established in the large cities of the country to carry out the Universal Credit program.

An idea of the size of this new institution in Atlanta may be obtained from the fact that eventually from 100 to 150 people will be employed in this one office.

HARDWICK SCORES SMITH CRITICISM

Jonesboro, Ga., August 31.—(Special.)—The focal point of criticism of Alfred E. Smith in his candidacy for president—that he "came from Tammany hall"—was characterized as "absurd and unjust" in an address here tonight of former Senator Thomas W. Hardwick, who spoke to a huge audience.

Mr. Hardwick pointed out the record of the famous political organization of New York, showing that Tammany's history has been one of friendship for the south, even antedating the civil war and continuing through to the present time.

With respect to propaganda being disseminated by anti-Smith agitators based on the alleged affiliation of Smith with Tammany hall, former Senator Hardwick said:

"A favorite point of attack upon Governor Alfred E. Smith is that 'because he comes from Tammany hall.' In my opinion no more absurd and unjust charge could be made upon him particularly in the south and to southern people who are acquainted with American history.

"It was a Tammany mayor of New York, Fernando Wood, and a Tammany common council that adopted resolution at the beginning of the civil war opposing and denouncing the attack of the balance of the country upon 'southern brethren.'

"It was from Tammany hall that one of its most illustrious sons in 1863 proclaimed to all the world, 'Austria did not dare to fasten upon vanquished Hungary nor Russia to impose upon conquered Poland the ruthless tyranny now inflicted upon the southern states.'

"It was Tammany hall that in this same campaign of 1868, the very year of reconstruction, that gave to the democratic candidate for the presidency, Horatio Seymour, a majority of 10,000 in the great state of New York.

Tammany Beat Force Bill.
"It was Tammany congressmen and Tammany senators who assisted in defeating the iniquitous force bills in 1875 and 1880 in the congress of the United States, and it was a distinguished Tammany lawyer, an Irish Catholic by birth and creed, Charles O'Connor, who volunteered and gave without price his services to Jefferson Davis when the latter was imprisoned at Fortress Monroe at the close of the civil war, charged with 'treason.'

"In all of the north and east and where Tammany hall has been the one political organization that has ever been faithful to the people of the south, sympathizing with our troubles and supporting our cause every day of our life, so that it comes with very poor grace from southern men and women who know anything about American history to be casting aspersions and hurling denunciations at Tammany hall, and it comes with even poorer grace when it is remembered that these same southern men and women are perfectly willing to endure and embrace the corrupt Philadelphia machine of William are, and the equally rotten political machine of Big Bill Thompson in Chicago.

"In their strange and unfounded abuse of Tammany and its illustrious son, Alfred E. Smith, they seem to forget that Hoover, the man for whom they are now shouting, was only nominated at Kansas City when he got the consent and approval of Mr. Vane and his Philadelphia machine. Consistency seems to be one of the virtues they do not practice."

Excellent Showing
Made by Atkinson,
Solicitor General

Newman, Ga., August 31.—(Special.)—The "crime wave" recurring discussions of the so-called "crime wave" in this country brings to light many varying opinions regarding this question. Where such crime waves are originated, their cause, the methods needed in correcting them, all have their share in the discussion.

It is evident to careful observers, however, that crime waves do not originate in the country sections. To substantiate this observation we quote figures from a compilation from the records of the office of the solicitor general of the Coweta circuit, in this state, which is composed of the counties of Carroll, Heard, Coweta, Meriwether and Troup. The record covers the past seven and one-half years, during which time Hon. W. Y. Atkinson has served as solicitor general of the circuit, and which have actually gone before the jury of the circuit. The tabulation is as follows:

Offense.	Guilty.	Not Guilty.
Arson.....	3	3
Assault.....	76	82
Burglary.....	90	35
Robbery.....	35	8
Larceny (felony).....	50	12
Murder.....	165	26
Rape.....	15	3
Malicious mischief.....	30	12
Misdemeanors.....	37	22
Total.....	568	210

This is a most interesting tabulation; not only does it show that crime waves have been most prevalent for the period of seven and one-half years that it covers, but illustrates in the most practical manner the law enforcement, in the hands of an active and capable solicitor general, with common sense jurors trying the cases, is clearly within the power of the state, and may be had by any community willing to use the machinery of present laws.

The Coweta circuit and Solicitor General Atkinson are to be congratulated for this splendid record of law enforcement.

GRAND JURY ASKS CITY, COUNTY UNION

Recommendation that the city and county be consolidated to "save duplications of work and expenses in running separate governments" were contained in general presentations returned Friday by the Fulton grand jury at the close of the July term. The September term jury will be organized next Tuesday.

The July jury conformed with numerous predecessors in urging the licensing of drivers to curb automobile accidents, and the abolition of the "farmers' power variety" and was classified as an experiment by officials of the Georgia Power company, under whose direction the work has been conducted.

On every one of the posts supporting the high voltage cables in the five-mile stretch between the two towns transformers are placed by which the current can be "stepped down" to the voltage required for ordinary house use. Thus any farmer or small community along the route can secure electric power without having to string wires from a central power house.

It was said that the new current would be used to run a cotton mill, print press, planer and garage machine shop, in addition to providing lighting facilities. An old community power plant will be abandoned.

LOCUST GROVE SCHOOL WILL REOPEN TUESDAY

Locust Grove, Ga., August 31.—(Special.)—The Locust Grove school will open the fall session under new ownership next Tuesday, and with prospects of a good enrollment. The buildings have been renovated and put in readiness for the opening.

Rev. W. W. Williams, Baptist minister and head of the company which recently purchased the school from the Georgia Baptist convention, will reside at Locust Grove and have general management of the institution.

Professor A. G. Funderburk, of Greenville, Fla., a graduate of Mercer university, who comes as the head of the science department; Professor G. A. Pringle, a graduate of the University of Georgia, who is the new teacher of French; Miss Mildred Williams, daughter of the Rev. Mr. Williams, who is in charge of the junior department; Mrs. Williams will manage the dining hall.

The institute will continue as a military school, the department being in charge of Lieutenant Dan R. Baugh, who has served as commandant for the past two years.

MAIL IS DELAYED
WHEN AIRPLANE IS FORCED DOWN

South-bound air mail from Richmond and points south arrived at Atlanta several hours late Friday morning because the air mail plane piloted by H. T. Merrill was forced down at the emergency field in Anderson, S. C., by motor trouble. Sid Malloy and a mechanic were sent from the field to Anderson, and while the mechanic repaired Merrill's motor, Malloy brought the mail on to Atlanta.

The air mail was due here at 5:17 a. m., but arrived at 10:30 o'clock. Merrill brought his ship on to Atlanta an hour and a half later.

The motor failed because of valve trouble which developed 16 miles east of Anderson, it was reported. Merrill gradually lost altitude, and made the Anderson field with difficulty.

SEMINOLE CHURCH PLANS TO WELCOME REV. GOODPASTURE

Officers and members of the Seminole Avenue Church of Christ Friday enthusiastically began preparation for taking care of the large crowd that is expected to attend both the 11 o'clock morning service and the 7:45 evening service Sunday when B. C. Goodpasture will begin his work as pastor of that congregation.

The new pastor, who reached Atlanta from Florence, Ala., Friday morning, always has drawn large crowds and distinguished himself as an orator, lecturer and Biblical student.

Dr. Charles H. Paine, choral director, will feature both services with special song services, and has the solid backing of the Young Men's Bible class, of which he is teacher.

The large attendance that is expected at the Sunday school will be adequately cared for in the program being arranged by Superintendent A. M. Holtz.

CLIFFORD THOMAS AND DEWEY SMITH
FORM LAW FIRM

Clifford E. Thomas, son of Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court, and W. Dewey Smith, both prominent young lawyers of Atlanta, have formed a law partnership, to be known as Thomas & Smith, with offices at 622-624 Atlanta National Bank building, it was learned Friday.

Attorney Thomas has been actively engaged in legal work for six years past, while Attorney Smith has had five years' experience before the bar.

Both young men are graduates of Boys' High school and of the Atlanta Law school, and both are prominent in fraternal and political circles of the city.

TALMADGE FLAYS ADAMS' CAMPAIGN

Calhoun, Ga., August 31.—(Special.)—Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, addressed a large audience of voters at the courthouse here today in behalf of his campaign for reelection to the office he now holds. Mr. Talmadge was introduced by B. Y. Dickey, of Calhoun, who praised the commissioner's record in office and assailed what he characterized as "special interests" and "the fertilizer trust."

In his address, Talmadge vigorously flayed his opponent and pointed to what he asserted was the relationship between "the old Brown machine" and the Adams committee. He charged that Fred T. Bridges, assistant commissioner of agriculture in the Brown regime is directing the Adams campaign and told his hearers that "Bridges ran the Brown vehicle."

Now he is trying to put his old record in office, the commissioner charged. "Fred would run Adams like he ran Brown. He isn't going to play ball unless he can run the whole game. He will have all the 'only boys' at the polls on the twelfth trying to get their jobs back."

In conclusion, Talmadge said: "Some few days ago the Bridges-Adams campaign committee gave out a statement that I had spent more money in six months than the Brown administration had in a corresponding period. These figures were framed to deceive the people. I would like to see the figures before the fact jury in the world, his home town people, and bring his figures with him. He failed to show up. I am ready and willing to face him at anytime and he knows it. He has had eight weeks to get his figures together and should not be afraid to face me with them."

Talmadge reviewed in full the work of the various departments of which he is in charge. He repeated his charges that the opposition is spending huge sums of money to spread spurious literature, all over the state.

EULA THOMPSON TO BE SENTENCED AGAIN ON SEPT. 7

Eula Thompson, held at Fulton Tower under conviction in the murder of Coleman Osborne, Murray county store proprietor, will be resentenced September 7 by Judge C. C. Pittman, of the Cherokee circuit, it was said Friday by Sheriff C. H. Wilbanks, of Murray county.

Clifford Thompson, the woman's husband, and Jim Moss, a negro, were electrocuted August 3 for participation in the murder, committed a year ago during a robbery. Mrs. Thompson's new trial plea has been denied by the Georgia supreme court.

She will be returned to Murray county in a few days prior to September 7, while the law specifies 10 to 20 days as the period between the second sentence and the date of death.

Those who fear that his membership in the KKK might put them in danger our liberties, if he is called to serve as president, must feel reassured that he is a true American.

The old home of the late Sen. J. T. Robinson, who was welcomed back today to his old district by the Democratic club, was the scene of a Democratic victory.

Business was shoved into the back of the mind and one and all turned out to honor the old man.

protection, District Attorney John Mahan announced today that he could not only reveal the names of recipients of the alleged bribes, that arrests would be made. The indictments would be returned after his detectives had checked on information derived from receipts seized in the offices of the defendant's public accountants, in order of the grand jury, which is redesignating the connection between the defendant and the officers in the city government.

When Mr. Monaghan arrived at his home today he was escorted by a policeman. He explained that in view of the fact that he had been in the city for 50 years ago he met Joe, then a young man, in the Robinson farm not far from here. He said that after this boy had grown into manhood and was admitted at law, it was he who gave him the money.

In order to arrive early for the celebration, the senator left his motor home at 10 o'clock and drove 50 miles away, where only last night he formally was notified of his selection for a place on the democratic national ticket.

The question, by defense Attorney

S. Hahn, was construed by court officials as a confession, but a charge indicating that Mrs. Melhus herself had died from effects after a blow on the head.

Before Dr. Burgan went on the stand, Hahn accused the county chemist of tampering with the evidence, a move termed important to the defense.

Hahn asked the court to instruct the jury that the defense attorneys were not to be held responsible when they wished to do so.

Dr. Burgan testified that he had been in Michigan all the time of his agricultural specialists development.

Bristow Adams, of Cornell, said his cooperation with the Associated Press in New York had resulted in some of his best work in agricultural problems and expressed the belief that the news service was doing a great deal of good to farm extension. Editors from Oregon, Kansas, Illinois and Virginia made similar observations.

DIVERS ADDRESSES CLAXTON AUDIENCE

Claxton, Ga., August 31.—(Special.)—State Senator E. D. Rivers, in an address here today before a large gathering of Evans county citizens, continued his attack on Governor Hardman's recent criticism of alleged waste in the highway department in which the governor charged that Rivers' campaign is being aided by Chairman John N. Holder, of the highway board.

The speaker vigorously assailed Governor Hardman's record in office and, referring to the latter's charges of waste in the highway department, again reiterated his charges that if there had been waste the chief executive was in a position to have first-hand knowledge of it and should have stopped it summarily by refusing to approve and sign warrants of the highway department.

"The governor has had the 1927 audit of the state highway department in his possession for more than a year and the 1928 audit of the highway department was laid on his desk on the 15th of April," he said, "why did the governor continue to issue warrants for the highway department for expenditures which he now says are shocking, disgraceful and alarming?"

"I again say and I am going to continue to say until the night of September 11 that Governor Hardman is insincere at the present time and is only trying to use this trick method of expose to better his own candidacy for governor, which he knows, and every man in Georgia knows, is in desperate straits."

Foreign Language Vote Is Sought By Republicans

Washington, August 31.—(AP)—Listing the support of 14,000,000 voters among foreign language groups in the country has become a definite part of the republican campaign program, and a part in which Mr. Hoover is taking personal interest.

Because of his own experience as food administrator, the republican leader has turned from Europe to make America their home, holds a special attraction for the millions who are adapting to the new life in this country. In one of the over 100 sections of republican headquarters, a nearby office building, campaign plans are being worked out for these new world citizens by a staff especially fitted for the task.

Publicity material in a dozen languages is being issued through the New York office with the cooperation of the Washington staff.

98,000,000,000 CIGARETS SMOKED IN U. S. LAST YEAR

Washington, August 31.—(United News.)—Every person in the United States, man, woman and child, could have smoked 952 cigarettes last year, the commerce department estimated today.

Many smoked more than that number, many less, but that is the average considering there were 98,000,000,000 cigarettes consumed in this country in 1927.

In addition, cigarette manufacturers exported 2,000,000,000 cigarettes to foreign countries, making a total production of 100,200,000,000 for the year.

In addition to the cigarettes 6,455,000,000 cigars were manufactured in 1927. On an estimated figure of 30,000,000 adult males in the United States, this would give each man more than 200 cigars year.

NAB MAN WHO TRIED TO EXTORT $5,000 FROM HARRY THAW

Pittsburgh, August 31.—(AP)—A warning that the life of Harry K. Thaw was "in danger" unless $5,000 was left at a designated spot was contained in a letter received by Thaw's mother, Mrs. Mary Thaw, today.

The letter to Mrs. Thaw, which police said was similar to those sent to other persons, was signed "Black Hand Society."

Plan Made To Collect Money Due On Pledges For Great Smoky Park

Charlotte, N. C., August 31.—(AP)—Plans for collecting approximately $200,000 due on pledges as part of the million dollar fund for purchase of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park tract in North Carolina and Tennessee were discussed today at a meeting here of the North Carolina park commission.

Plato Ebb, of Asheville, treasurer, reported that more than $100,000 already had been collected in North Carolina and about $150,000 in Tennessee. The commission also has received $250,000 from the Rockefeller memorial fund. He was authorized by the commission to take "whatever steps are necessary to collect the balance."

"They are legal notes and we will collect them," Ebb said. The commission also studied the progress of the work of appraising the various tracts of land totaling 428,000 acres. The field work in connection with the survey of property lines and the estimating of timber on the various tracts has been nine-tenths completed, Mark Squires, chairman of the commission, declared in a formal statement.

COOLIDGE CONTINUES HIS POLITICAL SURVEY

Superior, Wis., August 31.—(AP)—Continuing his survey of political conditions in the midwest and northwest, President Coolidge was assured today by Walter Brown, assistant secretary of commerce, that Ohio and Indiana would be strongly republican in the November elections.

Bascom Sless, national republican committeeman from Virginia, another to visit the president here, has postponed his call indefinitely, owing to personal reasons.

President Coolidge expects to visit his native Vermont soon after returning to Washington about the middle of next month. The exact date of departure from here has not yet been settled by the chief executive, but in the meanwhile, September 11 still remains the date around which all white house plans revolve. John Coolidge, however, will depart before the remainder of his family, leaving here Monday for Hartford, Conn. The reasons for his departure or destination have not been announced, although John himself was heard to say that he would go to work practically immediately after his departure from Washington.

Fishing Season Ends.
The Wisconsin trout season came to an end at midnight tonight and henceforth the president will have to be satisfied with angling in the private lakes of the White House estate. These lakes are artificially maintained and stocked and although they are supposed to be very good sport, the president, Mrs. Coolidge and John were taken today on an inspection trip of the Superior-Duluth harbor, largest inland port in the world. Starting from the Berwind Coal docks, they were led past luxury vessels unloading coal along the Duluth side, then over toward Park point which runs out into the lake seven miles from Minneapolis and forms the harbor. A direct course was then taken east down the harbor to the Ore docks at Alouette, largest in the world, where the president saw boats being loaded with ore from the ranges in northern Minnesota. The party also passed huge grain elevators on the Duluth shore.

Workmen Line Shores.
Hundreds of workmen lined the shores and small craft stood by, heavily loaded with passengers, to see the chief executive. At Alouette, the Coolidges were met by the white house automobiles and taken back to Cedar Island lodge. The entire trip, arranged by the superior public affairs committee, took hardly more than an hour.

E. E. Murphy, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune, was invited by President Coolidge to lunch at Cedar Island lodge.

NICARAGUAN ELECTION RESTRICTIONS DRASTIC

Managua, Nicaragua, August 31.—(AP)—To avert disturbances in connection with the presidential elections November 4 and possession of distilled liquor will be prohibited throughout Nicaragua during the registration and voting period.

A decree to this effect has been approved by the national election board. The ruling will be enforced by the national military police.

The government has a monopoly of the "aguardiente" or native liquor and the keys deposited at the military police headquarters.

Possession of aguardiente is forbidden between September 17 and November 10, and purchase or sale of other distilled liquors is barred on each of the five registration days and election day and for 24 hours preceding and following each of these periods.

The decree also forbids the setting off of firecrackers on the registration and voting days.

HEARST TO SUPPORT HERBERT HOOVER

New York, August 31.—(AP)—William Randolph Hearst, newspaper publisher, in a cable from Paris today declared for Herbert Hoover, of his home state of California, for president.

Hearst's pronouncement was in Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

"Whom will you support for president and what issues will determine the election?"

In 800 words Hearst stated his opposition to the prohibition stand of Governor Smith, whom he labeled as a Tammany candidate.

He referred to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler as "one erstwhile" presidential candidate who "has aligned himself with Tammany Hall and the liquor interests because he does not like Mr. Hoover's attitude on the liquor question."

HOOVER RECEIVES CAMPAIGN REPORTS

Washington, August 31.—(AP)—Having spent a week in revitalizing the republican party organization, Herbert Hoover today put in a comparatively quiet day at his newly established general headquarters.

He received a report on conditions in the south from Horace A. Mann, a Washington lawyer, sometimes described as a "mystery man" in the campaign, and gave some final instructions about the work in that belt to James W. Good, of Iowa, before the western manager departed for his Chicago office.

While the Hoover general headquarters were silent on somewhat sensational published reports of the visit yesterday of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition prosecutions, that official issued a statement denying that she had consulted the republican presidential candidate about her official duties.

Mrs. Willebrandt Enters Denial.
"It is preposterous that Mr. Hoover or any other candidate for president and dignified official such as the president of the United States would presume to control the public officers in the discharge of public duties," she said. "Mr. Hoover has not done so and will not do so. The conduct of my official duties was not discussed with Mr. Hoover."

Mrs. Willebrandt's statement was issued after she had read newspaper dispatches intimating that Hoover had remonstrated with her concerning the recent prohibition raids and resulting grand jury investigation in New York. She called at headquarters during the visit of H. Edmund MacFlood, newly named chairman of the New York state central committee, and William H. Hill, chairman of the New York Hoover-Curtis committee.

Hoover Sees "Mystery Man."
Mann was escorted with the nominal purpose for half an hour, but declined to say what had been discussed. He did say, however, that he was willing to be referred to by newspapers as "the mystery man," adding that if Chairman MacFlood of the republican national committee, wanted to issue a statement as to his activities that would be satisfactory to him.

Good said Hoover had admonished him to supervise all expenditures carefully and have the work in the middle west conducted along business-like lines. The western manager told the nominee that there was a growing sentiment for him in the middle west, and that he anticipated a minimum of difficulty in keeping the west republican.

"You can't buy the farm vote in the middle west for a million dollars or any other sum," Good said. "Any effort along that line by any party will be disastrous. What the farmers want are the facts and the republican party will give these to them."

Corn Belt Expenditures.
"Our expenditures in the corn belt will be comparatively small, covering the distribution of literature and the expenses of speaking campaign."

Other visitors to the headquarters included T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the shipping board; W. J. Donovan, assistant to the attorney general; and Mrs. Henry Breckenridge, of New York, who invited him to speak at the annual meeting of the American Child Health association in Chicago in October. Hoover, who is president of the association, said his acceptance was a matter for the managers of the speakers' bureau to decide.

Soon after reaching headquarters today Hoover motored to a downtown theater for a private showing of the talking movie pictures of his Palo Alto acceptance speech and his West Branch, Iowa, address. It was the first time he had seen them, although they have been shown over the country generally during the past week or more.

The nominee tomorrow will attend the second baseball game of the current series between the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees here. He has only a few engagements for the forenoon and none for Labor day.

PRESSMEN'S UNION ENDS LARGEST MEET IT EVER HELD

Pressmen's Home, Tenn., August 31.—(AP)—A resolution which conventions of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union hereafter will be held every fourth year, instead of every second year was adopted by the convention today before its adjournment from what was said to be the largest meeting in its history.

Decision to increase the interval between conventions of the organization was reached after the New York delegation pointed out that to hold conventions every two years worked a financial hardship on the association.

Today's session was given over mostly to routine submission of committee reports. Financial reports from the technical trade school, hydroelectric power plant and sanatorium owned by the union were read and approved and the operation of all, it was decided, will be continued.

Delegates were making reservations today in view of leaving here tomorrow. A special train will carry delegates toward their homes in the east and special cars have been chartered for delegates from other parts of the country.

ESCAPED GEORGIA LIFER SURRENDERS

West Palm Beach, Fla., August 31.—A man giving his name as John Howell and claiming to be an escaped convict from Georgia, surrendered to police today. He is serving a life term for murder, he said.

ESCAPED FROM LAURENS PRISON.

The state prison commission said it had been informed John Howell escaped from the Laurens county penitentiary last week. He was serving a life term for the murder of a Bibb county policeman.

The prison commission was without information concerning the manner in which Howell escaped.

CHARGE HOWELS KIDNAPED GIRL.

Macon, Ga., August 31.—(AP)—In connection with the disappearance of John Howell, serving a life term from this county on the Laurens county chain gang, and who surrendered to police in West Palm Beach today, the sheriff's office announced that there is a nationwide hunt underway for Lois Gilman, 16-year-old Dublin, Ga. girl who is alleged to have been kidnapped from her home by John Howell and his brother, W. H. Howell.

There is a warrant out for W. H. Howell, charging kidnapping, and another warrant charging the Gilman girl with a misdemeanor, it is announced.

Howell's sentence of death for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Harry Green was commuted on November 15, last year.

After going to the Laurens county chain gang, according to officers from that county, Howell was made a trusty and became acquainted with W. H. Gilman and his daughter, Lois, whose home he visited.

Last Sunday, the officers allege, W. H. Howell, charged with kidnapping, picked up John Howell, who was at one end of the camp, and then the two are alleged to have picked up the girl in their automobile and drove off.

Information received here indicates that the three drove to southern Georgia, where John Howell left the car and proceeded southward. W. H. Howell and the Gilman girl returned to Dublin Monday, and in the absence of the Gilman family, were said to have gathered together some wearing apparel and again disappeared.

Macon police and sheriff's deputies were advised today that W. H. Howell and the Gilman girl headed toward Macon, but no trace of them has been found here.

RUM RUNNERS HIT BY CANADIAN JUDGE

Windsor, Ontario, August 31.—(AP)—A serious blow to rum runners' activities along the Detroit river was believed today to have been struck by Magistrate D. M. Brodie in ruling that storage of liquor by independent dealers in Ontario is illegal.

Under Magistrate Brodie's ruling it would be illegal for liquor to come to a halt at any point in Ontario even though it were intended for export to another country.

The magistrate's ruling was made in the case of three exporting companies which stored liquor along the Windsor river front, ostensibly awaiting shipment to foreign countries. Authorities said their warehouses were the main source of supply for bootleggers operating in Detroit, Mich., and vicinity.

The announced decision of the attorneys for the Inter-Transit corporation and the Erie and Ontario companies, two of the firms convicted of illegal storage of liquor, not to appeal the case is believed by lawyers to indicate the attitude of other bootleggers that it is useless to question the ruling. Lawyers predicted there would be a rush to plead guilty among exporters still awaiting trial.

The Michigan Transit company, the third company to face trial, yesterday was found guilty and assessed a fine of $800. The Erie and Ontario companies were fined a like amount when their cases were decided.

HORSE "RUNS AWAY" ON BUSY STREET OF CHICAGO "LOOP"

Chicago, August 31.—(AP)—"Where do you think you're going—to a fire?" yelled Policeman Mays, more irked than usual because his machine had crashed into a tree.

But the speeder, who yesterday was caught galloping down Lake street in excess of the speed limit, said nary a word in retort.

"You'll get a ticket for this," May continued as he arrested perhaps the first horse ever to be thus reprimanded.

Without rider or harness, Dobbin had escaped from a fire station, passed up several stop lights and persisted in his forbidden pace when the officer yelled to him. Mays leaped from his motorcycle, grabbed the horse's mane, and brought him to the curb for legal proceedings.

UNDER BIG BOND, CHICAGO BANDIT NABBED IN HOLDUP

Chicago, August 31.—(AP)—Strolling the streets under $14,000 in bonds, Frank Covelli decided he needed money for his legal defense to charges of kidnapping, robbery, larceny and assault.

His plan was frustrated last night, however, when he tried to wrest a box containing $1,500 from the hands of Paul Desterre, a restaurant manager.

Desterre struck Covelli and threw the box into the street. A policeman collared Covelli as he scrambled for the money in the street. The restaurateur recovered his bills and Covelli's four charges increased to five.

Among the first of the pre-autumn marriages is that of Miss Gladys Jones Chappell and Marion Taylor Pharr, which takes place at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Gordon Street Baptist church.

A bride-elect who will be delightfully honored today is Miss Dorothy May Moody, who will be the central figure at the trousseau tea at which Mrs. M. E. Moody will entertain in honor of her daughter.

Other affairs of interest today will be the party at which Mrs. Henry C. Peoples will honor her small granddaughter, Lucia Peoples, and the dinner at which Colonel and Mrs. Walter O. Boswell will entertain at their quarters at Fort McPherson, honoring General and Mrs. E. J. Williams and Colonel and Mrs. George F. Baltzell.

Better Films Announce Fall, Winter Program

Announcement of the fall and winter program of the Atlanta better films committee and the introduction of new chairmen, featured the luncheon meeting of the body Thursday at Habersham hall, with Mrs. Newton C. Hope, president, presiding.

To give the membership, which is composed of representatives from civic, religious and school circles, a general idea of the history, production and marketing of motion pictures, each one of the monthly meetings, beginning in September, will deal with a separate phase of the industry. Mrs. Newton Hope, who is president of the committee, has asked that all organizations interested in having reports on this work, appoint chairmen to serve on the films committee.

Appointments of vital interest, which are expected to stimulate two different phases of the film work were those of Mrs. J. C. Savage, prominent club and P. E. A. worker of West End, who will be the chairman for the community theater matter to be started in that district this fall, following the success of those in the Inman Park section; and the presentation as chairman of visual education, E. R. Enlow, known locally as having charge of that department of Atlanta's schools and an authority on the subject.

Other members of the executive board who will take a prominent part in the year's activities are Mrs. George Weir, first vice president; Mrs. R. E. McMorris, second vice president; Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, parliamentarian; Mrs. John W. Lloyd, recording secretary; Mrs. Marjorie McClain, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. Decker Tebo, treasurer; Mrs. John G. Courtney, matinee chairman; Mrs. J. A. Beall, P. E. A. representative, and Mrs. H. W. Wilder, review chairman.

Featuring the luncheon were talks by Mildred Seydell, who related an interview with Belgium's former minister of justice, Emile Van der Velde, the first to formulate rules governing motion pictures. She cited the care taken abroad to protect children under sixteen from seeing harmful films, and her later talk was devoted to praise the Atlanta committee for its tactful way of protecting Atlanta's interests, and of securing the cooperation of the theater managers.

Forming the latter part of an interesting program was a talk by E. S. Carthers, of the Eastman Kodak company.

Little Comment on Rossi Arrest
Rome, August 31.—(AP)—Arrest at the Swiss frontier of General Cesare Rossi, arch-villain of fascism and of a woman companion, caused little comment here today. Despite the domestic circumstances of their capture and the vivid personality of Rossi, the late editions of the Roman papers used only a brief agency dispatch containing the bare facts of the arrest.

These items were published under single column heads. They were not accompanied by comment and this silence, coupled with the return of Mussolini to Rome from the northern army maneuvers, is taken as evidence that word has gone out that the importance of the arrest should not be overemphasized.

Many Romans Aloof.
Nevertheless, some newspaper rumors as to the probable outcome of the case in juristic circles and among politicians, "Cesare," as the general was nicknamed when he was chief of the press office of the ministry of the interior in the early days of fascist power, is taken as evidence that word has gone out that the importance of the arrest should not be overemphasized.

It is believed here that he must have been lured, enticed or coaxed into crossing the border. Some people think that he may even have been spirited across the frontier in the speedy automobile that bore him from Lugano to Campione. It is agreed that it would have been sheer folly for him to have attempted a re-entry to Italy and hence to escape detection.

Because of his violent anti-fascist articles, written from France and handsomely paid for by American syndicates, Rossi had been a well-known guest of Italy, it was said.

Speculation Rife.
Speculation is rife also as to the punishment that may be in store for him. He may be tried under the law providing a long term of imprisonment for those found guilty of conspiring against the stability of the fascist regime.

It is taken for granted that the woman arrested with him is Margherita Rossi, his wife, who was in Rome while he lived in office in Rome and later when he was under trial in connection with the Matteotti assassination. She fled to France soon after his sensational escape to that country in 1926. Some of her enemies here are spreading a rumor that she has experienced a change of heart for the general and was responsible for his crossing of the frontier.

The wife of General Rossi lives in Rome in straitened circumstances. She could not be found today but she has never taken any part in the general's political activities.

Friends Aiding in Quest For "Personality Girl"
MANY APPLICATIONS ARE RECEIVED

BY ELMO HAMBY.
More than a score of friends Friday took part in the quest of The Constitution and the Howard theater for Atlanta's personality girl.

In the mail which brought many applications from local girls in the annual Public stage talent contest there came more than a score of application blanks filled out for girls by friends who believe them to possess stage personality.

That's a real friend! A friend of the girl and of the city. For out of the contest some girl will be named as Atlanta's "it" girl, and will receive a four-week contract for appearance on the Howard stage at a salary of $75 a week, and she may possibly go out into the "theatrical" world as a professional performer.

These embryos Clara Lewis will perform on the Howard stage before the audiences of that theater, and one will be named as the audience as more talented and more personable than the rest.

For that girl the sky's the limit. The demand in the stage world today is particularly for cute, peppy "personality singers," and while this type is preferred in the contest, girls who have other talents are eligible. All will be considered and judged by their impression on audiences, the only true test.

If you know of some young woman who is extremely popular among her friends; who possesses a tiny little something that distinguishes her from the rest; you'll be doing her the greatest favor possible by sending her application blank to the Personality Girl Editor of The Constitution. Don't wait until the last day. The contest applicants make the most lasting impressions!

CANCEL BIG DINNER FOR TEXAS GUINAN
Los Angeles, August 31.—(AP)—Cancellation of a 1,000-plate dinner in honor of Texas Guinan, New York night club hostess, who has returned to Hollywood to reenter motion pictures was announced here today as the result of a disappointing gesture by officials of the Breakfast club, where Guinan was to have been held.

Permission to use the Breakfast club's pavilion, scene of many gatherings in honor of distinguished visitors, was withdrawn by club officials "because of lack of official approval and because of unfavorable comment."

The action was taken after Mayor George C. Ryer refused to take part in welcoming Miles Guinan and had declined to attend the dinner.

An attempt to notify Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco, of the cancellation was made late last night. He was en route to Los Angeles to attend the dinner when it was called off.

Los Angeles, August 31.—(AP)—Rollins was convicted in July of this year of housebreaking and was sentenced to from five to eight years. Seven convicts were involved in the break yesterday, but two were recaptured before they had reached the prison farm limits. The men were at work in one of the prison fields when they overpowered C. L. Lowery, a guard, secured his gun and fired on A. D. Shiver, another guard, who was coming to Lowery's aid, killing him.

Dr. J. H. Norman, warden of the state prison at Raleigh, was here today directing the search for the escaped. He said charges would probably be brought against all seven for the death of Shiver, when the five large are recaptured. Rewards of $100 have been offered for the capture of each.

Charlie Masser, sent up in May, 1927, to serve two to five years for housebreaking and larceny. Robert Smith, given six to nine years for robbery following sentence June 10, 1927, to four to eight years for breaking and entering and larceny sent up in May of this year.

Godfrey Kayoes Charles.
Detroit, August 31.—(AP)—Godfrey Kayoes Charles, negro heavyweight, knocked out Pierre Charles, Belgium, in the second round of a ten-round bout here tonight.

After feeling out his opponent in the first round, Godfrey came out for the second, bent on ending matters quickly. A long left to the chin spilled Charles for a short count and the Belgian arose to stop a hard right to the same spot that dropped him again.

Up without a count, the Belgian fighter tried gamely to trade punches with the negro, but was felled three times more. The last time he remained prostrate.

Steven Nugent, Cleveland bantamweight, won a four-round decision over a scheduled six-round final.

Bob Jones Leads American Golfers To Sweeping Victory

Stars Retain Walker Cup At Chicago

Chick Evans Only U. S. Ace to Lose; Iron Duke Wins by 13 and 12.

In comparison with the now stalwart student of the last generation, the presentation of the big Walker cup tonight brought from Captain Tweedell, of the British team, a vast store of humorous comment, but the humor covered a serious thought. The thought that Great Britain must be taking lessons from the United States in the game of golf.

Such a complete reversal has seldom been heard of in any international game and it is entirely probable that the thing will continue indefinitely through the years.

A Great Leader. These matches proved something else very definitely. Robert Jones is a great captain. He demonstrated this the first day when he placed himself in the most strategic position to do the most good and in his pairings today the result is testimony enough that his selections were good. His influence on the team is inestimable though indisputable.

For the first time on this course, Robert Jones three-putted a green when he took a birdie five on the first hole this morning to have with Philip Perkins, British amateur champion. From that time until the ninth hole was reached, Perkins lost five holes to either birdie figures, or Robert set out to give the British a lesson in golf as it should be played and he accomplished that so successfully that he won 18 holes to two up on the Englishman. It was the worst morning round beating ever administered in Walker cup play.

The second hole found both Jones and Perkins in traps at the green with their second shots and both safely out within five feet of the pin with their blasters. Bob Jones, however, walked one around the cup for a buzzard five to go one down.

Perkins drove the trap on the 22-yard third while Bob was on the green 30 feet from the pin with his tee shot. The British won with his second shot, but failed to can the putt while Bob was down with a par three to go two up.

Bob's First Birdie. Bob's first birdie came on the long fourth when his second shot to the edge of the green and he chipped up 18 feet from the pin and holed the putt for a four. Perkins was playing down with his second, but over-shot the green with his third and took a par five when he picked up after Bob had dropped the putt. That put Robert three up.

The fifth also went to Mr. Jones when he carded another birdie by dropping a six-foot putt to the green, two perfect shots to the green. Perkins played a regulation four, but it was of no avail. Bob was four up in five holes and the gallery began to feel sorry for the grim-faced British, who was being so thoroughly crushed under the holocaust.

A par four on the sixth gave Bob his fifth in succession when Perkins was in the rough at the left with his drive and into a trap at the right. The green with his second shot to take a five. Perkins was finally pressing from the trees in an effort to drive with his club. His pressing resulted in the wild shot.

Perkins again found a trap with his tee shot on the short eleventh and was not out with his third shot. Bob was safely on with his pick and laid his first putt dead. Perkins conceded the hole and was given a five while Bob carded another perfect three to win his sixth straight.

A Beautiful Recovery. There seemed no end to the thing. Bob won the eighth by virtue of a beautiful recovery from the back of a trap at the green where a too careful second shot left him. He chipped three feet from the pin and was down with a par four. Perkins, still pressing, shot to the rough on the left and his second was shot of the green. He was on the green with two putts for a five. That was seven straight for Bob.

The ninth was the first and only hole won by the English in the entire 18 holes. Bob looked his tee shot a few feet off the fairway at the left to deep rough and his second splashed into the pond just short of the green. He took a six to a perfect four for the British.

Both were on the short tenth in one and down in two putts. They also halved the eleventh in perfect figures though Perkins was forced to play a beautiful chip shot dead to the pin after he had over-shot the carpet with his second.

Robert then began the slaughter again. On the twelfth he played one of the finest short shots shots he has played in this tournament. His tee shot rolled to the edge of the rough on the left and he took a spoon to lodge in the shallow rough at the left corner of the green at least 100 feet from the pin over a rolling ground. It was a well-nigh impossible shot but the ball stopped three feet past the pin and Bob was down in one putt for a par four. Perkins took a six after hitting the trap with his second and failing to get out.

Bob Goes Eight Up. Bob made it eight up on the short thirteenth by laying a chip shot from the trap at the right of the green dead to the pin for a perfect three while Perkins, who had found the same trap, failed again to get out with his blast shot.

It was nine up after the fourthteenth which Bob won when Perkins was four after Perkins had driven one ball out of bounds then put this third shot in a trap at the edge of the green.

The fifteenth was halved in regulation fours when Bob won the sixteenth with another one-putt green.

Walter Hagen Says Atlanta Marvel Will Be Hard To Beat This Year.

BY WALTER HAGEN.

British Open and American Professional Golf Champion. (Special Dispatch to The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Chicago Golf Club, Wheaton, Ill., August 31.—Although the American Walker cup team was figured to win from the British team, no one quite expected the defeat to be such an overwhelming one.

The feature of the final day's play, as I saw it, was the marvelous golfing of that superman in amateur golfing circles, Bobby Jones. Everyone expected Bobby to win, but playing to keep the Englishman from winning, meet a golfer who would give him a real battle, but it turned out to be a rout.

To me, Bobby didn't beat Perkins as much as Perkins beat himself. All Jones did was to play his systematic method of play, knocking of pars in his hands. Perkins, perhaps, did not play as well as he did, but he did not play anywhere near his real game.

Will Be Hard To Beat. But to Bobby, anyone of the same He beat the great Fred Taylor in 1920 by a margin of 11-10, and this year he made the margin even greater against Perkins. He won 18 holes to two up on the Englishman. It was the worst morning round beating ever administered in Walker cup play.

Swimmers Are Requested To Enter Big Meet Early

Entries keep pouring in by every mail for the annual Constitution swimming meet, which holds the center of the spotlight for Labor day.

At the present time it looks very much as if the mark set last year in this event will be eclipsed. Looks like swimmers have increased.

Although entries in all events will be received at Piedmont park lake up until near 3:30 o'clock, the time set for the first event, it is hoped that all intending to enter will have their entries in The Constitution office by noon Saturday. This will save much work for the committee in charge.

Stoney Wins First. This will save much work for the committee in charge.

Stoney started with a victory over Johnston, who got enmeshed in traps at the top of their game at the first hole. Stoney sank a 10-foot putt for a deuce on the third.

Stoney and Johnston enacted a comedy of errors on the long fourth where both were wild and after visiting traps and rough, Stoney won the hole with a par. Johnston's score was 7, they halved the fifth in par.

Stoney lost the 357-yard sixth to Johnston's birdie 3, but the American took 4 on the short seventh to be 3 down again.

Johnston won the eighth with a par 4 and halved the ninth to turn 2 down to Stoney.

Johnston lost 10th. Johnston won three down with a 4 on the 10th hole, but then scored seven straight pars and topped them off with a 3 on the 424-yard eighteenth. This gave him a total of 76 to Stoney's 77.

Johnston, by winning the eighteenth quit for the intermission on up on the 19th hole. Stoney, who was six up the way, Johnston used 41 strokes to the turn and was two down.

Evans, defeated 1 up, made a gallant charge, but he was nearly all the way. Johnston used 41 strokes to the turn and was two down.

Lott and Hennessey Defeat French Stars

Cochet and Brugnon Bow to Americans in Semi-Finals of Doubles Tourney.

BY WILLIAM R. KING.

Brookline, Mass., August 31.—(AP)—George M. Lott, Jr., and John Hennessey, young American Davis cup players, registered one of the greatest victories of their tennis careers here today when they crushed Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, of France, the English doubles champions, on the courts at the Longwood Cricket club.

The American heroes of the play against Italy in the challenge round of the Davis cup matches, took the replayed semi-final round from the Frenchmen in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2, thereby winning a place in tomorrow's finals against Gerald Patterson and Jack Hawkes, the Australians, who qualified yesterday.

Played Brilliant Tennis. Lott and Hennessey played a great game against Cochet and Brugnon yesterday but darkness came on when the match stood two set four games all and they decided to play it over.

The Americans were in much better form this afternoon and gave a remarkable exhibition of offensive and defensive tennis. They used the lob and kill effectively and their lobbing, especially against Brugnon, was overwhelming.

Though their earned points totaled but 22 against 55 for Cochet and Brugnon, they had but 39 errors against 63 for the Frenchmen. During the three sets, Cochet and Brugnon each lost four services to Hennessey's one.

Helen Wills and Jack Hawkes had little trouble eliminating Marjorie Morrill, Boston, and Jean Borotra, France, in the first round.

Opening Match Will Get Under Way at 2 O'Clock; Doubles Start Monday.

BY WHITNER CARY.

With every one of the seeded players on hand, with Bryan Grant, the defending title holder, ready to give good and sufficient reasons why his name should again adorn the championship court and six other singles play and with the fastest of them all, the defending champion, Grant, who has appeared in an Atlanta, Georgia state tennis tournament under way Saturday on the courts of the East Lake Country club.

According to the present schedule, the opening gun in the singles play, will sound off at 2 o'clock with Bryan Grant facing Dave Morgan on the championship court and six other matches getting under way. The singles play will be taken up with three matches the first round will be completed by sundown. These three matches will start the program of Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The second round in singles play will be completed Sunday. Doubles start Monday.

Looking over the large entry list, which numbers no less than 64 players, one finds the names of practically every good player in the south. At the top of the list, seeded in number one position, is none other than Bryan Grant, the defending champion, the Nashville sensation, who stalked through the recent Tennessee state tournament, is seeded number two.

The old reliable Jack Mooney, who is one of the toughest stumbling blocks to be met in any southern tournament, is seeded number three. Jack is playing good tennis at the present time and can be looked upon to give considerable trouble.

Gus Fear, the "red cyclone" from Miami, who with Gus Turner annexed the doubles championship of the Carolinas and who only a few weeks ago defeated Mooney in singles in a defeated championship, is on deck and placed at number four. While he shows to best advantage in doubles, Fear is a very fine singles player. Look for him to wander out to East Lake to play against the Frenchmen for the second time.

The Dawes plan for getting reparations from Germany, launched in 1924, really starts in earnest today. The first four years have been years of experiment in which Germany has been allowed gradually to increase the annual amount paid to the allies.

Beginning today, Germany will be expected to pay the full $600,000,000 a year for an indefinite number of years. Can she do it? This is the question uppermost in the minds of international students of finance.

Treaty Provisions. The provisions of the peace treaty required Germany to make a payment of approximately $5,000,000,000 within less than two years after the London conference of 1921 fixed Germany's subsequent burden of reparations at $13,000,000,000. But it is one thing to fix an amount a nation is to pay, and another thing to receive the amount demanded.

When the war was at its height, the leaders of the allied nations met and agreed to have no commercial dealings with Germany at any time in the future. This agreement was applied by the war enthusiasts of all nations, who did not understand anything about the basic laws of economics and finance.

Experience since the war has shown to the world that before any government can continuously discharge a heavy debt to another government, it is necessary that the debtor government must first be permitted to stabilize its currency and balance its budget.

Board Appointed.

In 1924 it was seen that some plan within Germany's capacity to pay must be decided upon. Three distinguished Americans—General Charles G. Dawes, of Chicago; Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, and Owen Young, president of the General Electric company, were selected to represent United States.

The Dawes plan—so named because General Dawes was chairman—was the result. This plan was merely an attempt to recognize certain basic economic, rather than political, fundamentals in the fixing of reparations. It was based on Germany's economic capacity to pay and on the world's ability to receive such payment.

The young under-secretary of the American treasury, S. Parker Gilbert, was selected as agent general for reparations payments. The plan has been in operation for four years. Mr. Gilbert estimates that between January 1, 1925, and May 31, 1928, Germany's foreign borrowings have been $1,255,000,000. The total amount of reparations payments made by Germany during this time amounted to about $1,130,000,000. It is seen, therefore, that Germany borrowed $155,000,000 in excess of the reparations payments which she met.

Will Germany Pay? Will Germany be able to pay the balance of about $2,200,000,000 a year?

She must do it in one or three ways. First, by selling to the world at least $800,000,000 a year more in goods than she buys, thereby creating a surplus which she can use to square this obligation.

Or second, by borrowing $600,000,000 a year from other nations, thereby again getting credit sufficient to take care of these obligations.

Or she can use a combination of one and two.

There is another way in which she could meet the obligations, and that is by sending to the allies the amount in gold. But this would completely demoralize her internal finance. Such a move is out of the question.

But Germany, in every year since the war, has had to buy more goods in value outside of her boundaries than she has sold. There does not seem to be any immediate prospect of a change in this regard this year. It looks as though Germany will need to borrow heavily from the allies to meet reparations payments for some time to come.

Otherwise the big test starts this year, beginning today. It is only a beginning, too, for the total amount of the reparations which Germany is to pay finally to the allies has not yet been definitely fixed.

A business man wants to know why the Ford Motor company was not included in the billion dollar corporations which were listed by me yesterday.

The Ford company belongs entirely to the Ford family. There are only three stockholders—Mr. and Mrs. Ford and their son, Edsel Ford. Not share of its stock is listed on any exchange.

Its reports are condensed, and it is impossible to state accurately the amount of invested capital in the business. Only once, when he was buying out all his partners, has Henry Ford asked Wall street "for money." That was several years ago, and he paid the obligation off in less than a year.

However, as the Ford Motor company and Henry Ford are one and the same, it probably should be included in the second class. Perhaps even in the first class; that is, among those corporations that have an invested capital of one billion dollars or more. But the placing of the Ford interests in a proper classification at this time is more or less a guess.

New York City is spending approximately $700,000,000 in an attempt to solve its congested transportation problem. More than 12,000 persons are at work day and night building new subways in a desperate attempt to relieve the traffic problem of America's largest city. While this has been going on for years far below the surface, there is little on the surface to show that any such stupendous work is going on.

JOHN COOLIDGE'S EARLY BETROTHAL "IS FALSE RUMOR"

Rockwood, Maine, August 31.—(AP) With reference to the prospective visit of John Coolidge to Hartford, Conn., next week, Governor John H. Trumbull of that state, said today that no announcement of the engagement of his daughter, Florence, to young Coolidge would be made in the near future. Governor Trumbull is at his summer camp on Moosehead lake.

An announcement that John Coolidge is to leave Wisconsin for Hartford September 3 caused speculation as to whether this meant the engagement. Rumor had it that the engagement was to be announced September 15.

When asked to deny or confirm the report, Governor Trumbull said "The rumor is false."

CURTIS TELEGRAPHS ROBINSON REGARDS

Little Rock, Ark., August 31.—(AP) Further evidence of the warm personal friendship between the two rivals for the vice presidency of the United States came today in the form of a telegram from Senator Curtis congratulating Senator Robinson upon his formal notification as standard bearer of his party.

The message, which was sent from Washington and was signed "Charles Curtis," follows:

"Accept greetings on splendid reception given you by your friends and neighbors on your notification. Assuring you and Mrs. Robinson of my personal regards."

On the occasion of Senator Curtis' recent notification Senator Robinson telegraphed congratulations to the Kansan from the train as he sped eastward for the Smith ceremonies at Albany.

MISSISSIPPIANS DENOUNCE GROUP ATTACKING SMITH

Meadeville, Miss., August 31.—(AP)—A resolution denouncing the Franklin democratic executive committee for its action in repudiating the candidacy of Governor Smith was adopted at a mass meeting here of Franklin county democrats.

The action of the "self-appointed committee in attempting to impress the general public that the voters of Franklin county are not loyal to the democratic party," was deplored in the resolution.

"We hereby repudiate the action and sentiment expressed in the resolution drawn and published by the self-appointed and so-called county democratic executive committee," the resolution declared, and continued:

"We, the white democratic voters of Franklin county, do hereby heartily endorse the democratic nominee for president and do hereby pledge ourselves to support the nominee and the democratic party."

Elephant Poster Ad Fake Schemes Skips Prison Farm

Baton Rouge, La., August 31.—(AP) Frank O. (Mickey) Davis, convicted forger and erstwhile circus advertising agent, has taken French leave from the state prison farm and is believed to have boarded a train for somewhere north.

A trusty on good behavior; Mickey was serving a term of from 4 to 6 years for forgery in Louisiana. He had served more than a year.

Mickey built up a reputation of preceding a circus schedule and selling "exclusive elephant advertising" to merchants.

The circus came to town but without the poster-drawn elephants.

Arrested by police, sympathetic citizens went Mickey's bonds and he skipped. Later he fell into the police dragnet at Memphis after he had taken himself a wife.

Then his sentence at Angola prison farm followed.

MISSISSIPPIANS DENOUNCE GROUP ATTACKING SMITH

Meadeville, Miss., August 31.—(AP)—A resolution denouncing the Franklin democratic executive committee for its action in repudiating the candidacy of Governor Smith was adopted at a mass meeting here of Franklin county democrats.

The action of the "self-appointed committee in attempting to impress the general public that the voters of Franklin county are not loyal to the democratic party," was deplored in the resolution.

"We hereby repudiate the action and sentiment expressed in the resolution drawn and published by the self-appointed and so-called county democratic executive committee," the resolution declared, and continued:

"We, the white democratic voters of Franklin county, do hereby heartily endorse the democratic nominee for president and do hereby pledge ourselves to support the nominee and the democratic party."
